Money deposited in the Bank of North Dakota from collection of taxes by county treasurers does not remain there long, the statement of the bank made today in conformity with the call of the state examiner for bank statements, shows. The statement of the bank of April 3, 1923, showed that the county treasurers had deposited $25,000 in the bank, but the statement of June 30 shows but $2,500, a decrease of $22,500. Loans to open banks on June 30 were $74,786.41; on April 3, $78,542.29. Repaid in closed banks, June 30, $218,669.80; loans to closed banks, $417,566.89; receivers' certificates proof of claims, $329,600.67.

There is listed as due to the state treasurer as interest on bonds of the bank series, $90,508.49.

PLAN LABOR FOR HARVEST

Workers Moving Northward Toward Spring Wheat Belt

Kansas City, Mo., July 6.—Approximately 20,000,000 acres of wheat are yet to be harvested in Nebraska, South Dakota, and North Dakota, Montana and Minnesota, George E. Tucker, field director of the farm labor bureau, said here last night just before his departure on a tour of the northern section of the wheat belt.

The wheat harvest in southern and eastern parts of South Dakota will start about July 15, Mr. Tucker declared, and will move northward as the season advances.

Dr. Tucker said he would make Omaha his headquarters throughout the Nebraska harvest. About July 15 he said he would go to Aberdeen, S. D., for three weeks to direct the farm labor in that state.

GLAD TO GET BACK IN U. S.

Conditions Are Bad in Sweden, Local Man Says

"I'm glad to get back," said Oscar Bachman on his return yesterday with his wife from a trip to Europe. They spent most of their time in Sweden.

"Conditions over there in Sweden are tough," he said. "There were strikes which laid the men up five or six months during the winter and prices are high. People are leaving as fast as they can."

Mr. Bachman was not impressed with the political system over there. The government does too much, he said, and he also did not enthrone over the government doing—handing out money to unemployed.

"It's a good way to make Sweden a country of lazy people," he said.

SAYS REVUE TO BE IN CITY IS SEASON'S BEST

Bismarck Fortunate in Getting "Spice of 1922," for Auditorium

"Spice of 1922," the Winter Garden revue which is to show at the Auditorium in Bismarck on July 11, is declared by G. Horace Mortimer, advance agent for the production, who was here yesterday, to be the biggest musical show making a trip to the Pacific Coast this year.

The show, he said, opened June 19, 1922 in New York, and has been playing a solid year. It comes to Bismarck from Detroit, Chicago, Milwaukee, Minneapolis and St. Paul.

"Engagements were cancelled in the east because we are now over due on the Pacific Coast," he said.

"We will play Bismarck because it breaks the cross-country trip, coming here from Minneapolis, and stopping at Billings and Spokane only before reaching the coast. The show is so big that if we play to capacity, business here we will not make any money."

The revue carries 100 people, and special 70-foot baggage cars are necessary to carry scenery to the coast.

There is an all-star cast, he said, which includes such musical comedy favorites and vaudeville headliners as El Brendel and Flo Brone, George Price, Arman Kalis, Sam Hearn, Florence Browne, Johnny Lerkes, Alide Ridnor, Betty Jones, Martha Troop and Arthur Corey.

The book of the show was written by Jack Lait, noted author, playwright, newspaper and war correspondent.

TO EXAMINE CLOSELY NEW BANKCHARTERS

State Guaranty Fund Commission to Determine Application of New Banks

ADOPT RESOLUTION

No Payments of Deposit Before Court Rule on Priority of Payment

The Guaranty Fund Commission will, in conformity with a law of the 1923 legislature, examine carefully all the applications for admittance of newly organized banks to participate in the Guaranty Fund, a resolution to that effect having been adopted by the commission, it was learned today.

Under the new law rewriting the Guaranty Fund act the commission may act upon the cases of banks already members that, in the belief of the commission, have not lived up to all regulations and may require conformance to a standard for admission of banks.

Under the resolution the commission will require from new banks a list of the stockholders, number of shares, stock paid in and other information, and it also has ruled that the bank will not be entitled to receive deposits until the application for membership under the Guaranty Fund has been acted upon and a certificate signed by the chairman and secretary delivered.

The commission, it was learned, does not look with disfavor upon suits instituted to force payment of deposits of the first banks to close of the present closed list. If a suit had not been instituted in the district court of Stark county by depositors of the Security State Bank of New England, first of the present list of closed banks to fail, to force payment of depositors the commission itself probably would have taken some action to bring the question into court, according to one member.

Depositors in the New England bank case contend that the entire assets of the Guaranty Fund Commission should be used to pay off the depositors of banks in order of closing. Depositors of some of the banks which closed later hold that the division should be made pro rata among depositors of all closed banks. It is this question which the courts will decide, and which the commission is understood to desire to have decided.

A. G. Divet of Fargo will assist Attorney-General Shafer in presenting the position of the Guaranty Fund that depositors of all closed banks should share equally in the funds on hand.

TO ABOLISH 12-HOUR DAY

U. S. Steel Corporation Promises This Action

New York, July 6.—Entrance into the United States of a labor supply from Mexico, the Philippines, Canada and a few European countries soon will make possible the abolishment of the 12-hour day in the steel industry, E. H. Gary, president of the board of the United States Steel Corporation, announced today.

Mr. Gary declared the 12-hour day would be abolished within a reasonable length of time. As the supply of labor increases, he said, the long day gradually would be abolished and he pointed out that the supply was now increasing.

He estimated that the change would require 60,000 additional employees and would increase the cost of finished steel products by 15 per cent.

Mr. Gary's announcement followed the action of President Harding in making public before sailing from Tacoma to Alaska, correspondence passing between him and the American Iron and Steel Institute in which directors of the institute pledged themselves to abolish the 12-hour day when sufficient labor was assured.

OPEN PARLEY DECIDING COAL WAGE SCALES

Operators and Anthracite Miners Begin Meeting to Determine Question

STRIKE OR WORK?

Effort to be Made to Settle Differences—Operators to Reject Wage Boost

Atlantic City, N. J., July 6.—The anthracite mine workers today pressed their demand for an increase in wages to the coal operators in a joint session.

John L. Lewis, international president of the miners' union, made an address explaining the demand of the miners.

Atlantic City, N. J., July 6.—Negotiations that probably will take the better part of the next two months begin here today between the anthracite operators and the miners to work out a new contract if possible, to replace the wage agreement which expires August 31.

More than 100 men representing either the miners or the coal companies and affecting 155,000 workers in the anthracite fields of Pennsylvania have gathered for the joint conference.

At today's meeting it was planned for miners to formally present the demands adopted at the Scranton convention last week.

According to reports here the coal operators are expected to flatly refuse the demands. Whether they will do so at today's meeting or adjourn to consider a more formal answer was not publicly known.

The demands of the miners call for a 20 per cent increase in the contract wage scales and a 25 day increase for all men paid by the day. There are other demands, such as full recognition of the union, an 8-hour day for all employees regardless of occupation, coal to be paid by weight where it is now paid for by car and a two-year contract.

It is expected that no material progress will be made in the negotiations until toward the end of the month.

ILLNESS OF JUROR BAR IN BOSS' TRIAL

Mistrial Will Be Declared If Illness Continues, Florida Judge Says

Lake City, Fla., July 6.—The condition of a juror who is suffering from an attack of appendicitis today may decide the course of a trial of Walter Higinbotham, charged with the murder of Martin Tabert of North Dakota.

The juror was ill yesterday and although he was reported to be improved last night Judge McMullan announced that in the event the juror is forced to go through an operation or is unable to attend sessions of the court a mistrial will be declared and the trial will go over until the next term of court.

Because of the juror's indisposition brief sessions of the trial were held yesterday. The defense closed its case and the state began the introduction of rebuttal testimony. Witnesses were called who testified that Dr. T. C. Jones, physician who attended Tabert after he was alleged to have been severely beaten by Higinbotham while the latter was a whipping boss for the Putnam Lumber Co., said Tabert had been beaten to death.

TRIAL HALTED.

Lake City, Fla., July 6.—Another halt in the proceedings of the Higinbotham trial came this afternoon when a recess until 4 o'clock was ordered because of the illness of L. M. Chambers, a juror.

Forty-seven citizens of Perry and Pierre county came to the support of Dr. T. Capers Jones, camp physician for the Putnam Lumber Co. this afternoon in the trial. Dr. Jones' reputation for truth and veracity were characterized as excellent by witnesses. They were the last to be put up by the defense in rebuttal, the state having closed its case today. Dr. Jones attended Martin Tabert.

SPECIAL RATES BY UTILITIES ORDERED OUT

Grand Forks Utility Must Increase Street Lighting, Water Power Rates

LIGHTING REDUCED

Valuation of Grand Forks Utility Also Is Cut by Railroad Commission

The Red River Power company of Grand Forks is forbidden by the state railroad commission in an order issued today from furnishing electricity under special contract for less than cost of production. The order will affect the street car company in Grand Forks; the rates paid by that city for pumping water in the municipal water plant and rates for street lighting, as well as about 25 contracts for individuals and corporations.

The theory of the railroad commission is that if some consumers are served at less than it costs to produce electricity the differences must be made up by other consumers, since the utility is guaranteed an 8 per cent return on its investment by law.

The decision has a bearing on arguments made before the city commission of Bismarck last week when considering the installation of oil burning engines for the city water plant. Under the decision the city could not obtain electric power for the water plant at less than cost of production and a fair profit. This was the contention of those that urged the installation of oil engines.

The rule of the commission, as laid down in the Grand Forks case, is as follows: "The commission having found that any service is furnished at less than production cost is unreasonable and discriminatory, resulting in undue and unreasonable preference in favor of persons enjoying such rates and against all other consumers, the Red River Power company is ordered and directed to remove such discrimination by increasing such discriminatory and preferential rates to the general scale of rates provided for herein."

The commission found the cost of producing electricity in the Grand Forks plant to be 3.12 cents per kilowatt hour, excluding taxes and office charges. Rates which will be increased include that of Grand Forks Street Railway company, which is 2.12 cents per K. W. H., that paid by the city of Grand Forks for pumping water in the city water plant, said to be 2.12 cents per K. W. H. and street lighting rates, said to be still lower, and a number of other special contracts.

The railroad commission ordered a reduction in the general lighting rates in Grand Forks but made no change in the gas and steam rates. It found the value of the Red River Power company, including East Grand Forks property, to be $1,746,339, a "fair present value." The valuation asked by the company was $2,298,274. The commission engineers found the construction cost of the plant to be $1,339,469, the additions being made by taking into consideration increased costs of labor and material since the plant was built.

The Grand Forks case originated on petition of the mayor of Grand Forks for lower rates, protest of the company against the previous valuation and an order of the commission on its own motion for investigation.

FORCE MAY BE USED TO GAIN PARTY'S AIMS

Reject Resolutions Declaring Against Force in Changing Government

RADICALS CELEBRATE

If Representative of Farmers Organizations Withdraw They Lose, They Say

Chicago, July 6.—Any weapon may be used in obtaining political control of government by the new Federated Farmer-Labor Party created here last night, it was indicated in the tabling of a resolution by the convention which would have excluded any group from its platform which advocated force or violence or which in any way was affiliated with an organization that sought political satisfaction except through the ballot.

This action twice was supported, first by tabling the substitute platform of the Farmer-Labor party which included suggestions and later by tabling a resolution recommended by a majority of the resolutions committee.

Sentiment of the conference on each occasion was expressed in infalling voice.

The Federal Farmer-Labor party adjourned as a convention on early date with only routine business of the elected executive committee on its hands. This committee will meet late today to choose an executive council.

The representatives of the Workers' Party, an acknowledged branch of the communists, were jubilant over the outcome. They pointed out that the Farmer-Labor party was "on the run" either way it went. If it voted to reject the platform then the Farmer-Labor party was "scrapped." If it voted to participate then its organization was merged. Some strength to this argument was lent in the fact that a number of state groups of the Farmer-Labor party served notice in the caucus that they would go with the Federated Party regardless of official action of their convention. It appeared to observers that the radicals had captured the convention of the Farmer-Labor party which called delegates from industrial, economic and farmers' organizations to meet with them in reaching a common ground of political unity.

C. E. Ruthenberg of Cleveland, Joseph Manley of New York, William Z. Foster of Chicago and W. E. Smith, general in the organization of the new party, are members of the national executive party. Other members of the party include W. M. Ware of Fargo, N. D., United Farmers Educational League and I. G. Scott, socialist party of Minnesota.

Auto Body Will Make Bid All Over State

Fargo, July 6.—Organization work to secure the first 10,000 members to the newly formed North Dakota Automobile association, is under way, sponsored by four commercial clubs of the state.

The general headquarters for the campaign is at Fargo. The state has been divided into four sections, with Fargo as headquarters for the southwestern, Grand Forks for northeastern, Minot for northwestern, and Bismarck for southwestern sections.

W. P. Chesnut, secretary of the Fargo Commercial club, is caring for the work in this section; W. W. Blain, secretary of the Grand Forks Commercial club, is in charge in that section; Mr. J. S. Milloy, secretary of the Minot Association of Commerce, is directing the campaign there; Mr. A. F. Bradley, secretary of the Bismarck Commercial club, is in charge of that section. Each is seeking the co-operation of the other commercial clubs in his respective section.

Letters are now being addressed to men in the various towns in this part of the state, explaining the plans of the automobile association, enclosing a sample emblem requesting him to solicit the city for members.

SAYS REVUE TO BE IN CITY IS SEASON'S BEST

Bismarck Fortunate in Getting
"Spice of 1922," for Auditorium

"Spice of 1922," the Winter Garden revue which is to show at the Auditorium in Bismarck on July 11, is declared by G. Horace Mortimer, advance agent for the production, who was here yesterday, to be the biggest musical show making a trip to the Pacific Coast this year.

The show, he said, opened June 19, 1922 in New York, and has been playing a solid year. It comes to Bismarck from Detroit, Chicago, Milwaukee, Minneapolis and St. Paul.

"Engagements were cancelled in the east because we are now overdue on the Pacific Coast," he said. "We will play Bismarck because it breaks the cross-country trip, coming here from Minneapolis, and stopping at Billings and Spokane before reaching the coast."

The show is so big that if we play to capacity business here we will not make any money."

The revue carries 100 people, and special 70-foot baggage cars are necessary to carry scenery to the coast. There is an all-star cast, he said, which includes such musical comedians as El Brendel and Flo Brice, George Price, Arman Kaliz, Sam Hearn, Florence Browne, Johnny Larkes, Alide Ridnor, Betty Jones, Martha Troop and Arthur Corey.

The book of the show was written by Jack Lait, noted author, playwright, newspaper and war correspondent.

TO EXAMINE CLOSELY NEW BANKCHARTERS

State Guaranty Fund Commission to Determine Application of New Banks

ADOPT RESOLUTION

No Payments of Deposit Before Court Rule on Priority of Payment

The Guaranty Fund Commission will, in conformity with a law of the 1923 legislature, examine carefully all the applications for admittance of newly organized banks to participate in the Guaranty Fund, a resolution to that effect having been adopted by the commission, it was learned today.

Under the new law rewriting the Guaranty Fund act the commission may act upon the cases of banks already members that, in the belief of the commission, have not lived up to all regulations and may require conformance to a standard for admission of banks.

Under the resolution the commission will require from new banks a list of the stockholders, number of shares, stock paid in and other information, and it also has ruled that the bank will not be entitled to receive deposits until the application for membership under the Guaranty Fund has been acted upon and a certificate signed by the chairman and secretary delivered.

The commission, it was learned, does not look with disfavor upon suits instituted to force payment of deposits of the first banks to close of the present closed list. If a suit had not been instituted in the district court of Stark county by depositors of the Security State Bank of New England, first of the present list of closed banks to fail, to force payment of depositors the commission itself probably would have taken some action to bring the question into court, according to one member.

Depositors in the New England bank case contend that the entire assets of the Guaranty Fund Commission should be used to pay off the depositors of banks in order of closing. Depositors of some of the banks which closed later hold that the division should be made pro rata among depositors of all closed banks. It is this question which the courts will decide, and which the commission is understood to desire to have decided.

A. G. Divet of Fargo will assist Attorney-General Shafer in presenting the position of the Guaranty Fund that depositors of all closed banks should share equally in the funds on hand.

TO ABOLISH 12-HOUR DAY

U. S. Steel Corporation Promises This Action

New York, July 6.—Entrance into the United States of a labor supply from Mexico, the Philippines, Canada and a few European countries soon will make possible the abolishment of the 12-hour day in the steel industry, E. H. Gary, president of the U. S. Steel Corporation, announced today.

Mr. Gary declared the 12-hour day would be abolished within a reasonable length of time. As the supply of labor increases, he said, the long day gradually would be abolished and he pointed out that the supply was now increasing.

He estimated that the change would require 60,000 additional employees and would increase the cost of finished steel products by 15 per cent.

Mr. Gary's announcement followed the action of President Harding in making public before sailing from Tacoma to Alaska correspondence passing between him and the American Iron and Steel Institute in which directors of the institute pledged themselves to abolish the 12-hour day when sufficient labor was assured.

OPEN PARLEY DECIDING COAL WAGE SCALES

Operators and Anthracite Miners Begin Meeting to Determine Question

STRIKE OR WORK?

Effort to be Made to Settle Differences—Operators to Reject Wage Boost

Atlantic City, N. J., July 6.—The Anthracite mine workers today presented their demand for an increase in wages to the coal operators in a joint session.

John L. Lewis, international president of the miners' union, made an address explaining the demand of the miners.

Atlantic City, N. J., July 6.—Negotiations that probably will take the better part of the next two months begin here today between the anthracite operators and the miners to work out a new contract if possible, to replace the wage agreement which expires August 31.

More than 100 men representing either the miners or the coal companies and affecting 155,000 workers in the anthracite fields of Pennsylvania have gathered for the joint conference.

At today's meeting it was planned for miners to formally present the demands adopted at the Scranton convention last week.

According to reports here the coal operators are expected to flatly refuse the demands. Whether they will do so at today's meeting or adjourn to consider a more formal answer was not publicly known.

The demands of the miners call for a 20 per cent increase in the contract wage scales and $2 a day increase for all men paid by the day. There are other demands, such as full recognition of the union, an 8-hour day for all employees regardless of occupation, coal to be paid by weight where it is now paid by car and a two-year contract.

It is expected that no material progress will be made in the negotiations until toward the end of the month.

ILLNESS OF JUROR BAR IN BOSS' TRIAL

Mistrial Will Be Declared If Illness Continues, Florida
Judge Says

Lake City, Fla., July 6.—The condition of a juror who is suffering from an attack of appendicitis today may decide the course of a trial of Walter Higginbotham, charged with the murder of Martin Tabert of North Dakota.

The juror was ill yesterday and although he was reported to be improved last night Judge McMullan announced that in the event the juror is forced to go through an operation or is unable to attend sessions of the court a mistrial will be declared and the trial will go over until the next term of court.

Because of the juror's indisposition brief sessions of the trial were held yesterday. The defense closed its case and the state began the introduction of rebuttal testimony. Witnesses were called who testified that Dr. Taert after he was alleged to have been severely beaten by Higginbotham while the latter was a whipping boss for the Putnam Lumber Co., said Tabert had been beaten to death.

Other witnesses were called to give impeaching testimony for the state.

TRIAL HALTED

Lake City, Fla., July 6.—Another halt in the proceedings of the Higginbotham trial came this afternoon when a recess until 4 o'clock was ordered because of the illness of L. M. Chambers, a juror.

Forty-seven citizens of Perry and Pierre county came to the support of Dr. T. Capers Jones, camp physician for the Putnam Lumber Co. this afternoon, in the trial. Dr. Jones' reputation for truth and veracity were characterized as excellent by witnesses. They were the last to be put up by the defense in rebuttal, the state having closed its case today. Dr. Jones attended Martin Tabert.

SPECIAL RATES BY UTILITIES ORDERED OUT

Grand Forks Utility Must Increase Street Lighting,
Water Power Rates

LIGHTING REDUCED

Valuation of Grand Forks
Utility Also Is Cut by Railroad Commission

The Red River Power company of Grand Forks is forbidden by the state railroad commission in an order issued today from furnishing electricity under special contract for less than cost of production. The order will affect the street car company in Grand Forks, the rates paid by that city for pumping water in the municipal water plant and rates for street lighting, as well as about 25 contracts for individuals and corporations.

The theory of the railroad commission is that if some consumers are served at less than it costs to produce electricity the differences must be made up by other consumers, since the utility is guaranteed an 8 per cent return on its investment by law.

The decision has a bearing on arguments made by the city commission of Bismarck last week when considering the installation of oil burning engines for the city water plant. Under the decision the city could not obtain electric power for the water plant at less than cost of production and a fair profit. This was the contention of those that urged the installation of oil engines.

The rule of the commission, as laid down in the Grand Forks case, is as follows: "The commission having found that any service is furnished at less than production cost is unreasonable and discriminatory, resulting in undue and unreasonable preference in favor of persons enjoying such rates and against all other consumers, the Red River Power company is ordered and directed to remove such discrimination by increasing such discriminatory and preferential rates to the general scale of rates provided for herein."

The commission found the cost of producing electricity in the Grand Forks plant to be 3.12 cents per kilowatt hour, excluding taxes and office charges. Rates which will be increased include that of Grand Forks Street Railway company, which is 21.2 cents per K. W. H., that paid by the city of Grand Forks for pumping water in the city water plant, said to be 21.2 cents per K. W. H. and street lighting rates, said to be still lower, and a number of other special contracts.

The railroad commission ordered a reduction in the general lighting rates in Grand Forks, but made no change in the gas and steam rates. It found the value of the Red River Power company, including East Grand Forks property, to be $1,746,339, a "fair present value." The valuation asked by the company was $2,298,274. The commission engineers found the construction cost of the plant to be $1,329,469, the additional being made by taking into consideration increased costs of labor and material since the plant was built.

The Grand Forks case originated on petition of the mayor of Grand Forks for lower rates, protest of the company against the previous valuation and an order of the commission on its own motion for investigation.

Letters are now being addressed to men in the various towns in this part of the state, explaining the plans of the automobile association, enclosing a sample emblem requesting him to solicit the city for members.

HUNT AUTHOR OF LETTER

Sydney, Nova Scotia, July 6.—Provincial police today were seeking to run down with a view to possible prosecution the author of a letter signed with the name of J. M. MacLachlan, secretary of District No. 23, United Mine Workers of America, in which coal miners throughout the province, were urged to strike in protest against alleged brutality against provincial police and federal troops called out to quell disorders in the strike of steel workers.

FORCE MAY BE USED TO GAIN PARTY'S AIMS

Reject Resolutions Declaring Against Force in Changing Government

RADICALS CELEBRATE

If Representative of Farmers
Organizations Withdraw
They Lose, They Say

Chicago, July 6.—Any weapon may be used in obtaining political control of government by the new Federated Farmer-Labor Party created here last night, it was indicated in the tabling of a resolution by the convention which would have excluded any group from its platform which advocated force or violence or which in any way was affiliated with an organization that sought political satisfaction except through the ballot.

This action twice was supported, first by tabling the substitute platform of the Farmer-Labor caucus which included suggestions and later by tabling a resolution recommended by a majority of the resolutions committee.

Sentiment of the conference on each occasion was expressed in infalling voice.

The Federal Farmer-Labor party adjourned as a convention on early date with only routine business of the elected executive committee on its hands. This committee will meet late today to choose an executive council.

The representatives of the Workers' Party, an acknowledged branch of the Communists, were jubilant over the outcome. They pointed out that the Farmer-Labor party was "on the run" either way it went. If it voted to reject the platform then the Farmer-Labor party was scrapped. If it voted to participate then its organization was merged. Some strength to this argument was lent in the fact that a number of state groups of the Farmer-Labor party served notice in the caucus that they would go with the Federated Party regardless of official action of their convention. It appeared to observers that the radicals had captured the convention of the Farmer-Labor party which called delegates from industrial, economic and farmers organizations to meet with them in reaching a common ground of political unity.

C. E. Ruthenberg of Cleveland, Joseph Manley of New York, William Z. Foster of Chicago and W. E. Smith, general in the organization of the new party, are members of the national executive party. Other members of the party include W. W. Ware of Fargo, N. D., United Farmers Educational League and I. G. Scott, socialist party of Minnesota.

Auto Body Will Make Bid All

Fargo, July 6.—Organization work to secure the first 10,000 members to the newly formed North Dakota Automobile association, is under way, sponsored by four commercial clubs of the state.

The general headquarters for the campaign is at Fargo. The state has been divided into four sections, with Fargo as headquarters for the southwestern, Grand Forks for northeastern, Minot for northwestern, and Bismarck for southwestern sections.

W. P. Chesnut, secretary of the Fargo Commercial club, is caring for the work in this section; W. Blain, secretary of the Grand Forks Commercial club, is in charge of that section; Mr. J. S. Millroy, secretary of the Minot Association of Commerce, is directing the campaign there; Mr. A. E. Bradley, secretary of the Bismarck Commercial club, is in charge of that section. Each is seeking the co-operation of the other commercial clubs in his respective section.

Letters are now being addressed to men in the various towns in this part of the state, explaining the plans of the automobile association, enclosing a sample emblem requesting him to solicit the city for members.

U. S. CITIZENS MAY BE PROUD YOUNG ASSERTS

Congressman in Patriotic Address Mentions Many Accomplishments

Valley City, July 5.—In a patriotic address here Congressman Young gave a long list of big, "unselfish" things which the United States had done of which Americans should be proud. In connection with the limitation of armaments treaty, which he said had been secured through American leadership, he gave figures prepared by the Navy Department and furnished to him under date of June 25, 1923, which show that the Navy of the United States has been greatly reduced as follows:

"Fighting ships in service or available for recommissioning at close of war, 620, and the same kind of ship under construction, 500, total, 1,120, and on May 1st, 1923, the fighting ships had been reduced to 551, and fighting ships under construction had been reduced to 51, total, 602. 468 fighting ships had been disposed of.

"Auxiliaries, including tenders, transport, cargo and fuel ships, tugs, etc., in service or available for recommissioning at the end of the war, 102, and the same kind of ships under construction, 197, total, 299, and on May 1st, 1923, the total of such ships had been reduced to 193, 97 of such auxiliary ships had been disposed of.

"Miscellaneous ships, including vessels and district craft taken over from outside owners by purchase, charter or commandeering, at the close of the war 2379, and on May 1st this class of ships had been reduced to 716. 1663 of such ships had been disposed of.

"The total of all ships used by the Navy at the end of the war was 3759, which was reduced on May 1st, 1923, to 1541. A total of 1662 ships were disposed of.

Congressman Young claimed these figures show a limitation of armaments in real earnest.

STUDEBAKER

The Studebaker Light-Six

Vast Resources Make Possible High Value at Low Price in Studebaker Light-Six

Studebaker's vast resources are utilized to manufacture (not assemble) the Light-Six complete in the newest and most modern large automobile plants in the world.

The Corporation's resources, consisting of $85,000,000 of actual net assets, including $45,000,000 of plants, make it possible for Studebaker to offer a six-cylinder car, at less than $1,000, that is emphatically superior in design, construction, performance, comfort and dependability, to any car within hundreds of dollars of its price.

By complete manufacture, Studebaker not only guards the quality of each part, but saves the middleman's profits, with the result that no other makes of car ever built, by anyone, at any price, represents so great a dollar-for-dollar value as the Light-Six.

Evidence of its mechanical superiority is found in its practical freedom from vibration. This is accomplished by the perfect balance of the motor. Perfect balance is obtained largely through the complete machining of all surfaces of the crankshaft and connecting rods. This requires 61 precision operations.

This method is followed exclusively by Studebaker on cars at this price. In fact, very few other cars have this feature, and their prices are from three to ten times as great as that of the Light-Six.

It is significant, therefore, that the sale of more than 80,000 Studebaker cars during the first six months of this year broke all records.

Buyers are justified in expecting more for their money in a Studebaker than in any other car.

HARDING IS ENJOYING TRIP

Party Resting Comfortably on Trip to Alaska

On Board the U. S. Henderson, July 6.—President Harding was beyond American boundaries today in comfortable cabins and on the deck of the transport Henderson. He left Tacoma, Wash., yesterday accompanied by Mrs. Harding and members of his party amid the boom of guns firing the presidential salute.

Escorting the Henderson are two American destroyers, the Hull and the Corry, equipped with depth finders and commanded by officials who recently made charts of the Pacific zone waters depth.

The attendance of the destroyers due merely to the extraordinary precautions of naval authorities to surround the President with every possible safety during the voyage, as course follows the inland passage from Puget Sound to Alaska and touches the open waters of the Pacific only for a few miles of the trip.

Trades Body Commends City Commission Act

The Bismarck Trades and Labor Assembly, in meeting last night, adopted a resolution commending the city commission for deciding to make a new water plant an all-city owned plant by furnishing its own power.

The resolution follows: WHEREAS, The Bismarck Trades and Labor Assembly went on record in favor of the city of Bismarck furnishing its own power to operate the proposed city-owned water plant, and Whereas, the city commission has decided the city shall furnish its own power and have a complete city-owned plant.

Therefore, be it resolved by the Bismarck Trades and Labor Assembly in regular meeting this 5th day of July that we commend the city commission for its action and the Bismarck and others that helped secure the city-owned plant from having to depend for power on a company that is owned by a man that does not recognize that organized labor or any other body of citizens is having any rights.

A Word to the Wise

"In March I was called to the bedside of my sister in Brewton, Alabama. She was given up to die and was almost dead. Talked in a whisper. Doctors said nothing but an operation would save her and she was too weak for that. Her color was yellow as a pumpkin and she was filled with gas. That day I heard of Mayr's Wonderful Remedy and went and got a bottle for her. In three weeks she was able to be about and walked a mile to church. I am praising your medicine to everyone." It is a simple, harmless preparation that removes the catarrhal mucus from the intestinal tract and allays the inflammation which causes practically all stomach, liver and intestinal ailments, including appendicitis. HARDING SPEECH SHOWS BELIEF IN GREATER DEVELOPMENT IN WEST

North Dakota should urge its claims for federal assistance for irrigation development, W. G. Black, state engineer, believes. Mr. Black, and others interested in irrigation, are much enthused over the speech made by President Warren G. Harding at Spokane last week, declaring the speech shows that the President is conversant with the needs of the west and will aid in the development program.

The President, in speaking of the west at Spokane, said in part: "We want the west to be a land of homes and of the freest opportunity for the establishment of the families possessing independent means of livelihood. It is recognized that the very different conditions of the plains and mountain areas compel many modifications of the policies that have served so well in other parts of the country. Those modifications are being wrought out gradually, with a view to promoting here that wide diversification of industries and occupations which is invited by your variety of resources, and which is the ideal state of a modern society."

"I spoke a moment ago of the fact that as a rule the utilization of nature's resources commonly results in their increase rather than their diminution. That is peculiarly true of one especially valuable resource of your mountain west; I mean your water. The flow of a great river that runs away to the sea without being utilized for power or for irrigation, is wasted forever. To prevent its development is not to save it for the benefit of a distant future. If it is to be of service tomorrow, it must be harnessed today."

Water for Power and Irrigation. "Our whole view of the relation of water to western development has changed much in the last generation. Only a few years since these waters were looked upon as potentially useful merely for irrigation and agriculture. We entered upon a great program of irrigation enterprise in that era when we had as yet but a vague notion about the dual purpose that your notion about the dual purpose that your water resources ought to serve. But now we know that the same water can in most cases be utilized both for power and irrigation. Thus the great power development will mark the sites of industrial centers, adjacent to which will grow up rich areas of intensive agricultural production. The industrial population will provide markets, without impossible transportation expenditure, for the products of the soil; and in turn the people on the soil will afford markets for the products of industry."

"Transportation will be increased and cheapened through electrification of the railways; and in the light of what we now know about all aspects of this subject, we may confidently look forward to a generation in which these young and vigorous commonwealths of the west will boast as great a population as the entire nation numbers today, capable of living for greater part within itself, representing the widest variety of occupations and interests, and having its problem of transportation largely solved for it because it will be so nearly self-sufficient and self-contained."

"It is doubtful if there is in the world such a region of varied opportunities and universal wealth as this mountain empire of yours. Your country presents its invitation and its opportunity to whoever is capable of a contribution to human well-being; to science, to industry, to the masters of metallurgy, of the electrical arts, of agriculture.

"Western people have had reasons to complain that there is not always a sympathetic or understanding attitude in some other parts of the country toward the irrigation development that the west must have. You people of the inland empire might well remind your critics that during the uncounted centuries when the greatest civilizations had their seat on the Euphrates and the Nile, they were nurtured by an agriculture which depended on irrigation; on conserving and utilizing the waters of a few great streams. Our irrigation program is after all only a proposal to repeat, on the scale of modern engineering operations, the works by which primitive man learned ed to subjugate the earth and make it serve the needs of a developing social order.

Encouraged by Results of Irrigation Work.

"Not once, but a hundred times over, will we reproduce here in the plains and mountains and valleys of our west the wealth and productivity which enabled the Pharaohs to build monuments for the wonder of all times. But the monuments to our achievements will bear inscriptions telling, not of the slavery and sufferings of generations which gave their lives to perpetuate the glory of a tyrant. Our inscriptions will tell of great, free states made up of contented, cultured and Christian homes."

"I am sure you are interested in what the federal government can do to help solve the problems on which your future so largely depends. As we have gone onward, in reclamation, there has been impatience that we could not proceed faster. There have been disappointments in the progress of work involving intricate and diversified engineering and hesitant financing. But I have been heartened by the convincing evidences I have already seen of the wonderful results where water meets the land. The government is interested to aid your efforts, from the standpoint of adding to the national wealth, by the transmutation of arid spaces, into fertile fields.

"So, contemplating the certainty that another century will give us a population of probably 300,000,000, one is forced to conclude that a wise development of resources is the only policy to which we dare commit ourselves."

DAKOTANS ARE BURNING HOMES

Heavy Loss by Fire Is Re-counted by Fire Under-writers Bureau

New York, July 6.—In view of the persistent shortage of housing facilities in North Dakota, it is not a little alarming to learn from figures made public today by the National Board of Fire Underwriters, through its Actuarial Bureau, that North Dakota burned, during the five-year period of 1917-1921, dwelling house property valued at $220,163. This was only a portion of the total fire destruction in North Dakota; it represents a per capita dwelling fire loss for the state of $1.27. At $10,000 each, 82 comfortable homes could have been constructed with the money thus thrown away, and the scarcity of suitable housing accommodations in North Dakota materially relieved.

It appears further that the total loss in dwellings for the entire country during this term, exceeded a quarter-billion dollars, standing at $221,453,878. Chief among the originating causes cited by the Board as responsible for this unexampled destruction were "Defective Chimneys and Flues," "Sparks on Roofs" (usually wooden shingle), "Stoves, Furnaces, Boilers and Their Pipes," "Electricity" (misused), and "Matches-Smoking."

"Significantly enough," said W. E. Mulliken, general manager of the National Board, in commenting upon the losses, "four of these five causes long since were pronounced by fire prevention engineers to be 'Strictly Preventable,' for sheer carelessness in some form is, of course, at the bottom of an overwhelming majority of all losses in dwellings as in every other type of structure."

ONE BALLOON IS MISSING

Nothing Heard From U. S. Navy Ship in Race

Indianapolis, July 6.—Determination of the winner of the long-distance flight in the national elimination balloon race which started from here July 4 today awaited a report from only one ship, the U. S. Navy No. A-662B, in charge of Lieut. L. J. Robb of Lakehurst, N. J. Of the 13 balloons which took off late Wednesday all have been reported as having landed except that in which Lieut. Robb is riding.

Unofficial calculations show that Lieut. Robb, instead of Washington, piloting the U. S. Army S-8 has traveled the farthest distance so far. The distance between Indianapolis and Manila, N. J. where he descended is approximately 416 miles.

FIRE SWEEPS NEVADA CITY

Loss Already Is Estimated at $1,500,000 by Mayor

Tonopah, Nev., July 6.—Carried by a wind of hurricane force that is roaring its defiance of dynamite and water a great fire is sweeping over the gold camp of Goldfield, 30 miles to the south. Hundreds of refugees are fleeing to the hills carrying their hastily collected effects with them.

At 10 o'clock Newton Crumley, proprietor of the Goldfield hotel, estimated that the fire had done damage to the extent of $1,500,000.

At that hour it had swept Main street from end to end leaving many blackened and smoldering ruins in its wake and had jumped across to Columbia avenue where it was rolling toward the postoffice and hotel.

An attempt to dynamite a fire trail proved futile in the face of the wind and the futility of this endeavor was intensified by the virtual failure of the water supply. The water is from a spring 30 miles away.

Chief among the originating causes cited by the Board as responsible for this unexampled destruction were "Defective Chimneys and Flues," "Sparks on Roofs" (usually wooden shingle), "Stoves, Furnaces, Boilers and Their Pipes," "Electricity" (misused), and "Matches-Smoking."

"Significantly enough," said W. E. Mallatieu, general manager of the National Board, in commenting upon the losses, "four of these five causes long since were pronounced by fire prevention engineers to be 'Strictly Preventable,' for sheer carelessness in some form is, of course, at the bottom of an overwhelming majority of all blazes in dwellings as in every other type of structure."

ONE BALLOON IS MISSING

Nothing Heard From U. S. Navy Ship in Race

Indianapolis, July 6.—Determination of the winner of the long-distance flight in the national elimination balloon race which started from here July 4 today awaited a report from only one ship, the U. S. Navy No. A-663B, in charge of Lieut. L. J. Robb of Lakehurst, N. J. Of the 13 balloons which took off late Wednesday all have been reported as having landed except that in which Lieut. Robb is riding.

Unofficial calculations show that Lieut. Robert Olmstead of Washington, piloting the U. S. Army S-6 has traveled the farthest distance so far. The distance between Indianapolis and Marilla, N. J. where he descended is approximately 416 miles.

DECISION OF SUPREME COURT FROM NELSON COUNTY

Farmers and Merchants State Bank of Tolna, a corporation.
Plaintiff and Appellant, vs.
H. L. Stavn and Lena Stavn,
Defendants.

SYLLABUS:
1. An application to vacate a default judgment on the ground of surprise, mistake or excusable neglect is addressed to the sound judicial discretion of the trial court on the particular facts existing in the case, and the trial court's ruling will not be disturbed on appeal unless an abuse of discretion is shown. Bank v. O'Laughlin, 37 N. D. 532, 164 N. W. 135.

2. As between the immediate parties to a negotiable instrument, absence of consideration therefor is a defense and may be established by parol.

3. While parol evidence of a contemporaneous agreement or understanding is inadmissible to contradict, vary, or explain the terms of a negotiable instrument, it may be introduced to show that the instrument was given without consideration.

"TRAVELING BABY FARM"

Mrs. Anna Stewers with 16 of the 19 children who were taken for a ride from Brooklyn, N. Y., to Schenectady, N. Y., in one taxi cab, making the trip of more than 150 miles overnight. She said she intended to give the children, left in her care by parents, a home on a farm near Schenectady. Four of the older children are her own.

FREEDOM—AND HOME

Mrs. Mary Lonergan, of Brooklyn, N. Y., spent the first day of her freedom after being acquitted of the murder of her husband, with some of her 14 children and the pet dog of the family. She called it her first real day of rest since she was married 30 years ago.

TIPS OFF POLICE

Ruth Norman, 15-year-old movie extra, who recently arrived in Hollywood from Chicago, has made a statement to Los Angeles police, they announce, which resulted in the arrest of a film director, an actor and a former detective in an alleged swindle plot. Wealthy business men were to have been the victims, according to her statement, officials say.

FIRE SWEEPS NEVADA CITY

Loss Already Is Estimated at $1,500,000 by Mayor

Tonopah, Nev., July 6.—Carried by a wind of hurricane force that is roaring its defiance of dynamite and water a great fire is sweeping over the gold camp of Goldfield, 30 miles to the south. Hundreds of refugees are fleeing to the hills carrying their hastily collected effects with them.

At 10 o'clock Newton Crumley, proprietor of the Goldfield hotel, estimated that the fire had done damage to the extent of $1,500,000.

At that hour it had swept Main street from end to end leaving many blackened and smoldering ruins in its wake and had jumped across to Columbia avenue where it was rolling toward the postoffice and hotel. An attempt to dynamite a fire trail proved futile in the face of the wind and the facility of this endeavor was intensified by the virtual failure of the water supply. The water is from a spring 30 miles away.

NARROW ESCAPE

Carrington, N. D., July 6.—L. A. Swenson, his wife, three children and two sisters had a close call recently in Minneapolis, when the auto in which they were driving was completely demolished when hit by a much larger car driven by two young men. All escaped with minor bruises. The men responsible for the accident immediately brought the Swenson family a new car.

DIVORCE GRANTED

Minot, July 6.—On the grounds of non-support and desertion, Mabel Kawabata of Minot, wife of a Japanese man, was granted a divorce in district court by Judge John C. Lowe, ending a case that has attracted considerable attention locally. The woman has filed an application with the clerk of district court to be examined at the next naturalization hearing in Minot, in an endeavor to regain her citizenship rights.

MINER INJURED

Hazen, N. D., July 6.—Herbert Haas, employed in the Danuser mine near here emptied carbide from a gallon can into a small bottle without putting aside his miners cap with its burning lamp. He was badly burned about the lips, nose, chin and forehead by the explosion, but will suffer no permanent injury, say the physicians.

HARDING IS ENJOYING TRIP

Party Resting Comfortably on Trip to Alaska

On Board the U. S. Henderson, July 6.—President Harding was beyond American boundaries today in comfortable cabins and on the deck of the transport Henderson. He left Tacoma, Wash., yesterday accompanied by Mrs. Harding and members of his party amid the boom of guns firing the presidential salute.

Escorting the Henderson are two American destroyers, the Hull and the Curry, equipped with depth finders and commanded by officials who recently made charts of the Pacific shore waters' depth.

The attendance of the destroyers was merely to the extraordinary cautions of naval authorities to insure the President's safety during the voyage. The course follows the inland passage from Puget Sound to Alaska through the open waters of the Pacific only for a few miles of the

HARDING SPEECH SHOWS BELIEF IN GREATER DEVELOPMENT IN WEST

North Dakota should urge its claims for federal assistance for irrigation development, W. G. Black, state engineer, believes. Mr. Black, and others interested in irrigation, are much enthused over the speech made by President Warren G. Harding at Spokane last week, declaring the speech shows that the President is conversant with the needs of the west and will aid in the development program.

The President, in speaking of the west at Spokane, said in part: "We want the west to be a land of homes and of the freest opportunity for the establishment of the families possessing independent means of livelihood. It is recognized that the very different conditions of the plains and mountain areas compel many modifications of the policies that have served so well in other parts of the country. Those modifications are being wrought out gradually, with a view to promoting here that wide diversification of industries and occupations which is invited by your variety of resources, and which is the ideal state of a modern society."

Encouraged by Results of Irrigation Work.

"Not once, but a hundred times over, will we reproduce here in the plains and mountains and valleys of our west the wealth and productivity which enabled the Pharaohs to build monuments for the wonder of all times. But the monuments to our achievements will bear inscriptions telling, not of the slavery and sufferings of generations which gave their lives to perpetuate the glory of a tyrant. Our inscriptions will tell of great, free states made up of contented, cultured and Christian homes."

"I am sure you are interested in what the federal government can do to help solve the problems on which your future so largely depends. As we have gone onward, in reclamation, there has been impatience that we could not proceed faster. There have been disappointments in the progress of work involving intricate and diversified engineering and hesitant financing. But I have been heartened by the convincing evidences I have already seen of the wonderful results where water meets the land.

The government is interested to aid your efforts, from the standpoint of adding to the national wealth, by the transmutation of arid spaces, into fertile fields.

"So, contemplating the certainty that another century will give us a population of probably 300,000,000, one is forced to conclude that a wise development of resources is the only policy to which we dare commit ourselves."

of work involving intricate and diversified engineering and hesitant financing. But I have been heartened by the convincing evidences I have already seen of the wonderful results where water meets the land.

A Word to the Wise

"In March I was called to the bedside of my sister in Brewton, Alabama. She was given up to die and was almost dead. Talked in a whisper. Doctors said nothing but an operation would save her and she was too weak for that. Her color was yellow as a pumpkin and she was filled with gas. That day I heard of May's Wonderful Remedy and went and got a bottle for her. In three weeks she was able to be about and walked a mile to church. I am praising your medicine to everyone." It is a simple, harmless preparation that removes the catarrhal mucus from the intestinal tract and allays the inflammation which causes practically all stomach, liver and intestinal ailments, including appendicitis. One dose will convince or money refunded. For Sale at All Druggists.—Adv.

RAG CHEWING

Do you talk entertainingly? When you begin speaking, do the others "hush up" and listen with interest? Ed Howe, Kansas country town philosopher, thinks the only reason why one ever listens to other people's talk is because he knows it'll be his turn next.

The art of good conversation is waning in our country, says Dr. Henry Van Dyke, professor of English literature at Princeton.

He blames, principally, fast talking.

The early white generations in America developed conversation into an art. It was a natural development. To start with, few of them could read fluently or write legibly. In remote communities, in particular, the clergyman did the writing for his flock, keeping the social records. The storekeeper and schoolmaster helped make out the business records and write the occasional letter to relatives and friends back in civilization.

With writing and reading difficult, it was natural for the people to concentrate on conversation as an outlet for their craving for self-expression.

Conversation became an art, despite its conventional formality.

Then, too, there were no entertainments such as radio and movies in those days. Books were scarce, newspapers and magazines few. People didn't have much to do, except talk, in spare time. News and exchange of ideas had to be mostly by the talk route.

Small wonder they were able to become conversational artists. The voluble talker is rarely interesting, but he at least can distribute words like the spray from a bug-gun.

As time goes on, conversation in America is doomed steadily to become less and less an art. Speech itself also will steadily drop out of use. This is inevitable because modern means of communication are making it easier to communicate by the eye than by the ear. Where a manager used to open the door and all out into the factory, he now turns to his stenographer or talks a "memo" into the wax-record machine.

Some critics think we write too much, in average life. But they are wrong. We have to write as much as we do (nearly, at least) because we talk less.

Then, too, average mentality is rapidly becoming keener, and fewer words, either printed or spoken, are necessary to convey an idea and make it comprehensible. In days not long past, a man would say to his friend: "Did you observe, when we were talking to William, right after I said so-and-so, he did a peculiar thing" . . . etc., etc., etc.

Now the man raises one eyebrow and says to his pal: "Did you get that?"

Telepathy—thought transference by a semi-radio route—is coming into general use, crude and limited at present, but the forerunner of something greater to come.

YOU AND CICADA

If you think that you have a difficult time here on earth, compare with the 17-Year Locust, which is swarming by billions again this year, attacking the trees. The Department of Agriculture says that these insect pests are "undoubtedly the most interesting of all the insects peculiar to the American continent."

After their 1923 visitation, they will disappear and not show up again until 1940.

The 17-Year Locusts, which really are giant flies instead of locusts or grasshoppers, make their appearance out of the ground. They live only a few weeks, then fall to the ground dead. During this short life, all effort is devoted to reproduction.

The female begins work on a tree branch. She is equipped with a sort of plow, which she uses to make a line of holes in the bark to the end of the branch. In these holes she lays her eggs, two in a nest. About a fortnight later, the eggs hatch, larvae crawl out, drop to the ground, burrow down and entomb themselves deep enough to be immune to all kinds of weather.

For 17 years they sleep, then crawl forth, mount to a tree branch and start the process of reproduction all over again. They come and go and repeat with perfect regularity, all maturing and laying eggs and dying at almost identically the same time. In their wake they leave a trail of ruined orchards, which they prefer to forest trees or vegetables.

Seventeen years of preparation for a few weeks of life! After all, it is much like human existence—95 per cent preparation and toil, 5 per cent realization and pleasure. Nature's activities are infinitely varied and mysterious. It would be equally amazing to the 17-Year Locusts, that we take years instead of weeks to accomplish our purpose on earth.

UNLUCKY

The superstition about opals bringing bad luck, started in 1829 by a Sir Walter Scott novel, is dying out. Opals are becoming popular, few people afraid of them. So claims P. J. Coffey, president of the National Jewelers' Association.

All around, superstition is on its last legs in our country. How long since you've seen a horseshoe nailed upside down over a door for luck? Americans don't believe in bad luck as much as they used to. Quite natural, since we're getting so we don't believe in anything.

RENT

Smallest shoestore in the world, catering only to fat men and thin, is being opened in Chicago by Sam Levine. The store is 20 by 8 feet. Sam has taken a lease until 1929 and his yearly rent will be $37.50 for each square foot of floor space.

Move the building out into a desert and the whole store wouldn't be worth $37.50 a century. The rental value is individually owned, but it is community created—by the activities of the people who swarm in the neighborhood. The community some day will claim its fair share of this value which it creates.

I just had to smile, mother dear when that old woman rang in her death-bed bunkum and I had all I could do not to say to her that she reminded me of those western bad men who considered it a disgrace not to die with their boots on.

I think, perhaps, that would have been the last of me if I had done it (or as it was I did put my foot in it dreadfully by saying:

"I am sorry that Miss Bradford sent the telegram because it worried Jack frightfully, particularly as it was impossible for him to come."

At this the spinster stepped forward and remarked with more or less rancor, "I am sure, Mrs. Prescott, that had you seen Mrs. Prescott's mother night before last you would have thought she was going to die."

"What was the nature of her illness?" I inquired.

Thereupon the old lady broke down and sobbed as she said, "John has broken my heart, John has broken my heart!"

I must have looked somewhat surprised for she thrust a letter into my hand which it seems John had written to his mother, in which he had told her some wholesome truths. It seemed that back-biting Priscilla Bradford had seen me that night at the Frolic with Karl and she wrote full particulars, as she saw it, to mother-in-law.

I was so angry at that old maid when I read the letter that I could have annihilated her on the spot, but oh how I did glory in Jack's spunk! He just told his mother he would not allow anyone, not even her, to say anything about me.

"Well, you see the rainbow is a big door. Rainbow Land is on the other side. I dropped my hat into that field there and was reaching for it, when the door shut behind me and shut me out. And here I am. And here I'll stay and here we'll all stay unless I can find the magic button."

"Shut out! How?"

YOUR DRESS ISN'T MODERN IF IT ISN'T RIBBONED

Not since the Victorian era have ribbons had such a popularity as they are having now. They are seen everywhere on all kinds of frocks. Wide ribbons shading from violet pale blue to deep blue are used as sashes, to edge flounces, even to edge wide sleeves. Narrower ribbons are used to make the flat flowers and rosettes that trim dancing dresses and negligees.

On some of the new full-skirted dancing frocks the ribbons made of tiny ribbon roses hide a pocket for powder and rouge. Velvet ribbon is used on organdies as it was years ago. Pleated ribbons are used for prim-stiff little frocks. There's a ribbon or a ribbon ornament for almost any dress that needs a touch of trimming that is new.

THE ELTINGE. The love of romance and adventure, possessed by all persons no matter how prosaic their calling in life or how plain they may appear on the surface, will find an outlet in "The Isle of Lost Ships," which is the current feature at the Eltinge theater. The locale of the tale is an "island" in the center of the Sargasso Sea, which is a tract in the North Atlantic Ocean thickly covered with sea-weed and kelp. The "island" has been sucked into the vortex where they are kept on the surface by the wind.

YOUR DRESS ISN'T MODERN IF IT ISN'T RIBBONED

Not since the Victorian era have ribbons had such a popularity as they are having now. They are seen everywhere on all kinds of frocks. Wide ribbons shading from violet pale blue to deep blue are used as sashes, to edge flounces, even to edge wide sleeves. Narrower ribbons are used to make the flat flowers and rosettes that trim dancing dresses and negligees.

On some of the new full skirted dancing frocks big rosettes made of tiny ribbon roses hide a pocket for powder and rouge. Velvet ribbon is used on organdie as it was years ago. Pleated ribbons are used for trim-stiff little frills. There's a ribbon or a ribbon ornament for almost any dress that needs a touch of trimming that is new.

AT THE MOVIES

THE ELLING.
The love of romance and adventure, possessed by all persons no matter how prosaic their calling in life or how placid they may appear on the surface, will find an outlet in "The Isle of Lost Ships," which is the current feature at the Elling theater. The locale of the tale is an "island" in the center of the Sargasso Sea, which is a tract in the North Atlantic Ocean thickly covered with seaweed and kelp. The "island" has been formed, according to tradition, by wrecks of all kinds, which have been sucked into the vortex, where they are kept on the surface by the weeds.

Many Friends at Anderson Funeral

A large crowd of friends and neighbors attended the funeral service held for the late Henry Anderson at the Swedish Lutheran church yesterday afternoon. Rev. Victor Bartling paid a beautiful tribute to the memory of the deceased, a valued citizen of this vicinity for a number of years. During the impressive service Mrs. Frank Barnes and Mrs. D. C. Seethorn sang three numbers, "Nearer My God to Thee," "Rock of Ages," and "Fide, Fide Each Earthly Joy." An abundance of wreaths and bouquets of flowers around the altar and upon the funeral bier were tokens of the esteem and friendship felt by friends of the deceased. Acting as pallbearers were: Frank Barnes, Carl Nelson, D. J. McGillis, Patrick Kelly, Andrew Pearson, and Ned Levin. The deceased was laid to rest in St. Mary's cemetery.

Early adapted to picturization, is a fast moving one—a story that stirs the blood and quickens the pulse. If you enjoy adventure and romance, don't fail to see "The Isle of Lost Ships." It shows at the Elling today and tomorrow, Friday and Saturday. Milton Sills, Anna Q. Nilsson, Walter Long and Frank Campeau are among the players.

RAG CHEWING

Do you talk entertainingly? When you begin speaking, do the others "hush up" and listen with interest? Ed Howe, Kansas country town philosopher, thinks the only reason why one ever listens to other people's talk is because he knows it'll be his turn next.

The art of good conversation is waning in our country, says Dr. Henry Van Dyke, professor of English literature at Princeton.

He blames, principally, fast talking.

The early white generations in America developed conversation into an art. It was a natural development. To start with, few of them could read fluently or write legibly. In remote communities, in particular, the clergyman did the writing for his flock, keeping the social records. The storekeeper and schoolmaster helped make out the business records and write the occasional letter to relatives and friends back in civilization.

With writing and reading difficult, it was natural for the people to concentrate on conversation as an outlet for their craving for self-expression.

Conversation became an art, despite its conventional formality.

Then, too, there were no entertainments such as radio and movies in those days. Books were scarce, newspapers and magazines few. People didn't have much to do, except talk, in spare time. News and exchange of ideas had to be mostly by the talk route.

Small wonder they were able to become conversational artists. The voluble talker is rarely interesting, but he at least can distribute words like the spray from a bug-gun.

As time goes on, conversation in America is doomed steadily to become less and less an art. Speech itself also will steadily drop out of use. This is inevitable because modern means of communication are making it easier to communicate by the eye than by the ear. Where a manager used to open the door and all out into the factory, he now turns to his stenographer or talks a "memo" into the wax-record machine.

Some critics think we write too much, in average life. But they are wrong. We have to write as much as we do (nearly, at least) because we talk less.

Then, too, average mentality is rapidly becoming keener, and fewer words, either printed or spoken, are necessary to convey an idea and make it comprehensible. In days not long past, a man would say to his friend: "Did you observe, when we were talking to William, right after I said so-and-so, he did a peculiar thing" . . . etc., etc., etc.

Now the man raises one eyebrow and says to his pal: "Did you get that?"

Telepathy—thought transference by a semi-radio route—is coming into general use, crude and limited at present, but the forerunner of something greater to come.

YOU AND CICADA

If you think that you have a difficult time here on earth, compare with the 17-Year Locust, which is swarming by billions again this year, attacking the trees. The Department of Agriculture says that these insect pests are "undoubtedly the most interesting of all the insects peculiar to the American continent."

After their 1923 visitation, they will disappear and not show up again until 1940.

The 17-Year Locusts, which really are giant flies instead of locusts or grasshoppers, make their appearance out of the ground. They live only a few weeks, then fall to the ground dead. During this short life, all effort is devoted to reproduction.

The female begins work on a tree branch. She is equipped with a sort of plover, which she uses to make a line of holes in the bark to the end of the branch. In these holes she lays her eggs, two in a nest. About a fortnight later, the eggs hatch, larvae crawl out, drop to the ground, burrow down and entomb themselves deep enough to be immune to all kinds of weather.

For 17 years they sleep, then crawl forth, mount to a tree branch and start the process of reproduction all over again. They come and go and repeat with perfect regularity, all maturing and laying eggs and dying at almost identically the same time. In their wake they leave a trail of ruined orchards, which they prefer to forest trees or vegetables.

Seventeen years of preparation for a few weeks of life! After all, it is much like human existence—95 per cent preparation and toil, 5 per cent realization and pleasure. Nature's activities are infinitely varied and mysterious. It would be equally amazing to the 17-Year Locusts, that we take years instead of weeks to accomplish our purpose on earth.

UNLUCKY

The superstition about opals bringing bad luck, started in 1829 by a Sir Walter Scott novel, is dying out. Opals are becoming popular, few people afraid of them. So claims P. J. Coffey, president of the National Jewelers' Association. All around, superstition is on its last legs in our country. How long since you've seen a horseshoe nailed upside down over a door for luck? Americans don't believe in bad luck as much as they used to. Quite natural, since we're getting so we don't believe in anything.

RENT

Smallest shoestore in the world, catering only to fat men and thin, is being opened in Chicago by Sam Levine. The store is 20 by 8 feet. Sam has taken a lease until 1929 and his yearly rent will be $37.50 for each square foot of floor space.

Move the building out into a desert and the whole store wouldn't be worth $37.50 a century. The rental value is individually owned, but it is community created—by the activities of the people who swarm in the neighborhood. The community some day will claim its fair share of this value which it creates.

I just had to smile, mother dear when that old woman rang in her death-bed bunkum and I had all I could do not to say to her that she reminded me of those western bad men who considered it a disgrace not to die with their boots on.

I think, perhaps, that would have been the last of me if I had done it for as it was I did put my foot in it dreadfully by saying:

"I am sorry that Miss Bradford sent the telegram because it worried Jack frightfully, particularly as it was impossible for him to come."

At this the spinster stepped forward and remarked with more or less rancor, "I am sure, Mrs. Prescott, that had you seen Mr. Prescott's mother right before last you would have thought she was going to die."

"What was the nature of her illness?" I inquired.

Thereupon the old lady broke down and sobbed as she said, "John has broken my heart, John has broken my heart!"

I must have looked somewhat surprised for she thrust a letter into my hand which it seems John had written to his mother, in which he had told her some wholesome truths.

It seemed that back-biting Priscilla Bradford had seen me that night at the Frolic with Karl and she wrote full particulars, as she saw it, to mother-in-law.

I was so angry at that old maid when I read the letter that I could have annihilated her on the spot, but oh how I did glory in Jack's spunk! He just told his mother he would not allow anyone, not even her, to say anything about me.

Just as soon as he comes home tonight, mother, you kiss him for me and tell him he is the best ever, won't you?

Don't you think my apartment is lovely? I think that I will come home tomorrow and help you enjoy it if in the meantime this old woman here does not think up some other way to keep me here and make me perfectly uncomfortable.

She keeps no maids, but she will not let me help her "dear Priscilla" do anything. Seems to think I am not capable of it and I'll tell the world that "dear Priscilla" is no cook.

Last night I had fried steak, plain boiled potatoes and sugary apple pie for dinner. "I was a little caty," mother dear, and said as I refused the steak that I never ate fried meat of any kind. When asked if I did not like pie, I answered, that unless pie was particularly flakey and light it gave me dyspepsia. I would have been a corpse then and there from "dear Priscilla's" glances.

I am being rather flippant, mother dear because I really am very unhappy.

Poor Jack! How dreadful he must feel to have such a mother and all the while she thinks he owes her everything and tells me very plainly that she lost her son completely when he married me.

I am going to call Jack up tonight and talk to him. On what he says will depend whether I start home tomorrow or not.

Lovingly,

LESLIE.

He departed, assured that his family was the victim of some evil, concocted alike from himself and Jenny; but he promised Jenny that he would presently write to America and lay every incident of the case, so far as it was known and reported, before his friend Ganns.

Before he returned to the borders of Como and his little villa beneath the mountains, the old scholar took affectionate leave of Jenny and made her promise to follow him as soon as she was able to do so.

Robert Redmayne had vanished off the face of the earth and his brother with him. There remained of the family only Albert and his niece—a fact she imparted, not without melancholy, to Mark Brendon, when the day came that he must take his leave of her and return to other and more profitable fields of work.

For a period of several months the detective was not to hear more of those who had played their small parts in the unsolved mystery. He was busy enough and in some measure rehabilitated a tarnished reputation by one brilliant achievement in his finest manner.

On a day in late March, Brendon received a little, triangular-shaped box through the post from abroad, and opening it, stared at a wedge of wedding cake. With the gift came a line—one only: "Kind and grateful remembrances from Giuseppe and Jenny Doria."

She sent no direction that might enable him to acknowledge her gift; but there was a postal stamp upon the covering and Brendon noted that the box came from Italy—from Ventimiglia, a town which Doria once mentioned in connection with the ruined castle and vanished splendors of his race.

CHAPTER X
On Granite.

Dawn had broken over Italy and morning, in honey-suckle colors, burned upon the mountain mists.

Two women climbed together up the great acclivity of Granite. One was brown and elderly, clad in black with an orange rag wrapped about her her brow—a sturdy, muscular creature who carried a great, empty wicker basket upon her shoulders; the other was clad in a rosy jumper of silk; she flashed in the morning fires and brought an added beauty to that beautiful scene.

Jenny ascended the mountain as lightly as a butterfly. She moderated her pace to the slower gait of the elder and presently they both stopped before a little gray chapel perched beside the hill path.

Mr. Albert Redmayne's silver curls, in the great airy shed behind his villa, had nearly all spun their cocoon; now, for it was June again and the annual crop of mulberry leaves in the valleys beneath were well-nigh exhausted.

Therefore Assunta Marzelli, the old bibliophile's housekeeper, made holiday with his niece, now upon a visit to him, and together the women climbed, where food might be procured for the fast, tardy caterpillars to change their state.

And then, when the caterpillars stood upon either side, Jenny and Assunta stayed a while.

The lake below was now reduced to a cup of liquid jade over which shot streamers of light into the mountain shadows at its brink; but there were vessels floating on the waters that held the watchers' eyes.

They looked like twin, toy torpedo boats—mere streaks of red and black upon the water, with Italy's flag at the tuffrail. But the little ships were no toys—and Assunta hated them, for the strange craft told of the ceaseless battle waged by authority against the mountain mugglers and reminded the widow of her own lawless husband's death ten years before.

The women climbed presently to a little field of meadow grass that sparkled with tiny flowers and thickets of alpine sward among the wastes of mulberry. Here their work awaited them; but first they ate the eggs and beaten bread, walnuts and dried figs that they had brought and shared a little flask of red wine. They finished with a handful of cherries and then Assunta began to pluck leaves for her great basket while Jenny loitered a while and smoked a cigaret. It was a new habit acquired since her marriage.

Soon the women started upon their homeward way. They had ascended about a mile and at a shoulder of Granite sat down to rest in welcome shadow.

And then, suddenly, as if it had been some apparition limned upon the air, there stood in the path the figure of a tall man. His red head was bare and from the face beneath shone a pair of wild and haggard eyes. They saw the stranger's great lawnly mustache, his tweed garments and knickerbockers, his red leotard, and the cap he carried in his hand.

It was Robert Redmayne. Jenny uttered one loud cry of terror and then relaxed and fell unconscious upon the ground. The widow leaped to her aid, but it was some time before Jenny came to her senses.

"Did you see him?" she gasped, clinging to Assunta and gaining fearfully where her uncle had stood.

"Yes, yes—a big, red man; but he meant us no harm. When you cried out, he was more frightened than we. He leaped down, like a red fox, into the woods and disappeared."

"Remember what you saw!" said Jenny tremulously. "Remember exactly what he looked like, that you may be able to tell Uncle Albert just how it was, Assunta. He is Uncle Albert's brother—Robert Redmayne!"

Jenny helped Assunta with her great basket, lifted it on her shoulders and then set off beside her. "I have a horrible dread," she said. "Something tells me that we ought to be going faster. Would you be frightened if I were to leave you, Assunta, and make greater haste?"

The other managed to understand and declared that she felt no fear. They parted and Jenny hastened, risked her neck sometimes, and sped forward with the energy of youth and on the wings of fear.

Jenny saw and heard no more of the being who had thus so unexpectedly returned into her life. Her thoughts were wholly with Albert Redmayne. He was at Bellagio when she reached home, and his manservant, Assunta's brother, Ernesto, explained that Mr. Redmayne had crossed after luncheon to visit his dearest friend, the book lover, Virgilio Poggi.

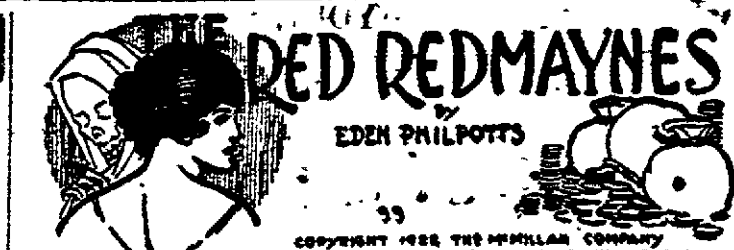

Jenny waited impatiently and she was at the landing stage when Albert returned. He smiled to see her and took off his great slouch hat.

He looked at Jenny's frightened eyes and felt her hand upon his sleeve. "Why, what is wrong? You are alarmed. No ill news of Giuseppe?"

"Come home quickly," she answered, "and I will explain."

Jenny told him that she had seen Robert Redmayne, whereupon her uncle considered for five minutes, then declared himself both puzzled and alarmed.

"BEGIN HERE TODAY"

Robert Redmayne, uncle of Jenny Pendean, is suspected of the murder of Jenny's husband, Michael. Robert disappears and is being pursued by Mark Brendon, criminal investigator.

Jenny goes to live with her uncle, Bendigo Redmayne. Brendon meets Robert in the woods near Bendigo's home but fails to capture him. Giuseppe Doria works for Bendigo. When Doria and Jenny find Robert they arrange a meeting at Bendigo's home but Robert fails to keep the appointment.

Robert sends word to Bendigo to meet him alone in a nearby cave. Doria takes Bendigo to the appointed place and leaves him with Robert. When Doria returns for his master, both men have disappeared. Albert Redmayne comes from Italy to try to solve the mystery.

Now GO ON WITH THE STORY

Mr. Albert Redmayne slept well, but the morning found him very depressed. He was frightened and awestricken. He detested "Crow's Nest" and the melancholy murmur of the sea. He showed the keenest desire to return home at the earliest opportunity and was exceedingly nervous after dark.

"Oh, that Peter Ganns were here!" he exclaimed again and again, as comment to every incident unfolded by Brendon or Jenny; and then, when she asked him if it might be possible to summon Peter Ganns, Mr. Redmayne explained that he was an American beyond their reach at present.

"Mr. Ganns," he said, "is my best friend in the world—save and excepting one man only. He—my first and most precious intimate—dwells at Bellagio, on the opposite side of Lake Como, from myself. Signor Virgilio Poggi is a bibliophile of European eminence and the most brilliant of men—a great genius and my dearest associate for twenty-five years. But Peter Ganns also is a very astounding person—a detective officer by profession."

"I myself lack that intimate knowledge of character which is his native gift. Books I know better than men, and it was my peculiar acquaintance with books that brought Ganns and me together in New York. There I served him well in an amazing police case and aided him to solve a crime, the discovery of which turned upon a certain paper manufactured for the Medici. But a greater thing than this criminal incident sprang from it; and that is my friendship with the wonderful Peter."

He expatiated upon Mr. Peter Ganns until his listeners wearied of the subject. Then Giuseppe Doria intervened with a personal problem.

He desired to be dismissed and was anxious to learn from Brendon if the law permitted him to leave the neighborhood.

He found himself detained, however, for some days, until an official examination of the strange problem was completed. The investigation achieved nothing and threw no ray of light, either upon the apparent murder of Bendigo Redmayne, or the disappearance of his brother.

Mr. Albert Redmayne stayed no longer in Devonshire than his duty indicated, for he could prove of no service to the police. On the night previous to his departure he went through his brother's scanty library and found nothing in it of any interest to a collector. The ancient and well-thumbed copy of "Moby Dick" he took for sentiment, and he also directed Jenny to pack for him Bendigo's "Log"—a diary in eight or ten volumes.

He departed, assured that his family was the victim of some evil, concocted alike from himself and Jenny; but he promised Jenny that he would presently write to America and lay every incident of the case, so far as it was known and reported, before his friend Ganns.

Before he returned to the borders of Como and his little villa beneath the mountains, the old scholar took affectionate leave of Jenny and made her promise to follow him as soon as she was able to do so.

Robert Redmayne had vanished off the face of the earth and his brother with him. There remained of the family only Albert and his niece—a fact she imparted, not without melancholy, to Mark Brendon, when the day came that he must take his leave of her and return to other and more profitable fields of work.

For a period of several months the detective was not to hear more of those who had played their small parts in the unsolved mystery. He was busy enough and in some measure rehabilitated a tarnished reputation by one brilliant achievement in his finest manner.

On a day in late March, Brendon received a little, triangular-shaped box through the post from abroad, and opening it, stared at a wedge of wedding cake. With the gift came a line—one only: "Kind and grateful remembrances from Giuseppe and Jenny Doria."

She sent no direction that might enable him to acknowledge her gift; but there was a postal stamp upon the covering and Brendon noted that the box came from Italy—from Ventimiglia, a town which Doria once mentioned in connection with the ruined castle and vanished splendors of his race.

CHAPTER X
On Granite.

Dawn had broken over Italy and morning, in honey-suckle colors, burned upon the mountain mists.

Two women climbed together up the great acclivity of Granite. One was brown and elderly, clad in black with an orange rag wrapped about her her brow—a sturdy, muscular creature who carried a great, empty wicker basket upon her shoulders; the other was clad in a rosy jumper of silk; she flashed in the morning fires and brought an added beauty to that beautiful scene.

Jenny ascended the mountain as lightly as a butterfly. She moderated her pace to the slower gait of the elder and presently they both stopped before a little gray chapel perched beside the hill path.

Mr. Albert Redmayne's silver curls, in the great airy shed behind his villa, had nearly all spun their cocoon; now, for it was June again and the annual crop of mulberry leaves in the valleys beneath were well-nigh exhausted.

Therefore Assunta Marzelli, the old bibliophile's housekeeper, made holiday with his niece, now upon a visit to him, and together the women climbed, where food might be procured for the fast, tardy caterpillars to change their state.

And then, when the caterpillars stood upon either side, Jenny and Assunta stayed a while.

The lake below was now reduced to a cup of liquid jade over which shot streamers of light into the mountain shadows at its brink; but there were vessels floating on the waters that held the watchers' eyes.

They looked like twin, toy torpedo boats—mere streaks of red and

MINOT WINS 11-INNING THRILLER

LOCALS TIE SCORE IN 9TH INNING RALLY

Contest Marked by Sensational Play all Through 11 Innings

THROCKMORTON IN BOX

The Capitals lost an 11-inning thriller to the Minot club at the local ball park last night by a score of 4 to 3. It was a heart-breaking finish for the small crowd of fans that braved the threatening clouds to go to the game, but they were rewarded by a ninth inning rally which tied the score and an effort in the eleventh which filled the bases but failed to bring victory when a runner was forced out at home.

The game had all the brands of a sensational game. There was remarkable fielding, smart baseball and some lapses, but on the whole it was a great contest.

Throckmorton returned to the Bismarck club and pitched fine ball, allowing only four hits in the first nine innings and two in the last two. He outpitched Denison, but his own wildness and poor throwing to bases contributed to his defeat.

The Minot club indulged in the smartest base running seen on the local lot this year. It produced Minot's first run without an error. Coleman, in the third, got a base on balls. On Walters' sacrifice he scored all the way to third base. He scored on the squeeze play. Minot scored again in the seventh. After two were down, Oliver was walked and Throckmorton's quick throw to catch him rapping went by Chief Fly. Oliver stole third. He scored on Hester's single, which would not have scored him from second.

In the ninth, Walters, first man up, got a hit. He took second when Fly dropped Throckmorton's throw but was put out at third on McNight's hit. Oliver flew out, Bernier making a fine running catch. Hester was walked and Bing Warner scored McNight with a single to center.

The winning run came in the eleventh. Walters was passed. McNight sacrificed him and Walters went from first to third on it, he scored on Oliver's hit.

Bismarck got double the hits Minot got but had a hard time getting runs across. The locals scored two runs in the seventh, tying the score. Zart was safe on Hester's error. Nord poked a two-bagger in left-center. Condon hit safely and Zart scored. Nord bled through out at home. Throckmorton bounced a single off Denison's glove. Newt Randall sent a sacrifice fly to right and Condon scored.

The locals also tied the score in the ninth, after Minot had made her total three runs. Zart went out but Nord got his second two-bagger and took third on a passed ball. Condon walked. Throckmorton fanned but when Denison and Hester mused up Randall's grounder, Nord scored.

In the eleventh Condon, first man up, went out, Denison, unassisted. Throckmorton was safe on Gunther's error. Randall's grounder hit Throckmorton, retiring the base-runner but putting Newt on first. Dougan fled out to right.

Minot's base running was the smartest seen this season. Kibby Spranger, back on short after recovering from injuries, should have remained away one more day. For his sensational fielding itself may have cost Bismarck the game. He handled ten chances without error and started two double plays himself.

Throckmorton looked might good for Bismarck. He pitched the third game of the season against Minot and lost 2 to 1. Since then he has been playing on teams near here, getting his arm in shape. He only scored out one, but Minot couldn't hit 'em safe.

The crowd was on Umpire Labe Saffro pretty hard. Recently at Minot the Hester crowd accused Labe of working against them. An umpire has a tough job at the best. President Powell said that Roy Funk, who took Tony Pleva's place, resigned because he wouldn't stand for ragging on the players. Powell has issued an order to umpires to fine players who kick too much. "The crowd," well, he says the crowd pays and the umpires will have to stand it. The fans feel they had just kicks coming here yesterday.

It was tough to see Chief Fly playing with a bad leg. He just hobbled around. But with Reider still off duty there was no substitute for him. The Chief wouldn't stand for ragging on the players. Powell has issued an order to umpires to fine players who kick too much. "The crowd," well, he says the crowd pays and the umpires will have to stand it. The fans feel they had just kicks coming here yesterday.

SCORES SHUTOUT IN BIG COMEBACK

Dick Rudolph, Long Retired, Turns In Sensational Pitching Feat

DICK RUDOLPH

BY BILLY EVANS
The age of baseball miracles has not reached its end.

Not when Dick Rudolph, nine years after his 1914 world's series fame, returns to the hill and pitches a shut-out victory.

Youth must be served, but age lingers long when there is a bundle of gray matter on the shoulders.

For Dick Rudolph, retiring as an active performer several years ago, took a fling at his familiar spot on May 17, faced the hardest hitting team in the National League and won, 1 to 0, in 10 innings.

Rudolph's feat of blanking the Pittsburgh Pirates in his first game in several years, is one of the features of the present season.

Shut-outs without causing any commotion but when he turns the trick at the age of 35, then it is time to put out a call for Cy Young, Nick Altrock, Bill Dineen and others of days long ago.

Exactly 18 years after he pitched his first professional game Rudolph delivered his remarkable shut-out. He was with Fordham College in 1905 and with New Haven in the Connecticut State League the next year.

In 1911 he was given a trial with the Giants after four big seasons with Toronto but that spring McStraw had his share of pitching strength and Richard was sent back to Toronto. In 1913, the Braves obtained Rudolph in a deal with the Giants.

Tribute to Smart Pitching
Rudolph is a mite of a fellow, measuring 5 feet 9 inches and weighing 100 pounds. Yet he could stand the physical strain of regular pitching because he had the arm and brain work in harmony.

Rudolph was pressed into service because of the crippled pitching staff of the Braves. No doubt he chose the hard-hitting Pirates to make his debut. It is a well known fact that hard hitting clubs find it more difficult to hit half-speed pitching. Invariably they like pitchers with plenty of stuff, a burning fast ball.

Perhaps no one was more aware of this fact than Rudolph, who no longer has his old time assortment of stuff. Rudolph's sensational performance stands out as a tribute to smart pitching.

Willard and Firpo Ready
Both Training Hard for Their Bout Next Week

New York, July 6—Jess Willard and Luis Angell Firpo, who will battle in a 12 round match at Boyles Thirty across next Thursday night are close to their fighting edge. Both plan but a few days more strenuous work before tapering off. Willard in his gymnasium quarters at Yonkers and the South American in his camp at Long Beach, N. J.

Willard has lost six pounds in the past two weeks training tipping the scales at 240 after 11 rounds of fast ring work yesterday. His present weight is eight pounds below the figure he scaled when he knocked out Floyd Johnson two months ago. Firpo though in fighting trim as a result of a trip to Cuba and Mexico has not slackened in his training.

Don Dougan, star catcher on the Bismarck club, was called to St. Paul last night. Suspension of several players as a result of a row put the St. Paul American Association club in bad shape. Dougan is with the local club on a 24-hour furlough. He will return in a few days.

HARRY WILLS GETS CHANCE AT DEMPSEY

Colored Man Will be Next Opponent of Champion, Jack Kearns Says

PICTURES SAID GOOD

Promoters May Recoup on Losses Sustained in the Fight at Shelby

Great Falls, Mont., July 6 (By the Associated Press.) Harry Wills, the negro heavyweight, probably will be Jack Dempsey's next opponent, Jack Kearns, manager of the heavyweight champion said today. Kearns said he expected to finish his business here tomorrow and would leave immediately for New York to close negotiations for a match with Wills to be decided probably on Labor Day.

"We want to box Wills if for nothing more than to convince the public that Dempsey does not draw the color line and has no fear of him," Kearns said. "The match was red hot a few months ago, but for some reason it was side-tracked. It is my opinion that it will draw better than a return match with Willard. Dempsey knocked him over seven times in one round and could do it again, so I don't see much object in fighting him."

Kearns revealed today that he still remains a 33-1-3 percent in the motion picture rights of the battle. Gibbons has a 25 percent interest while L. J. Molmby and Mayor Jim Johnson have a 41-2-3 percent interest in the pictures.

Plans are being made to exhibit them through the country immediately. The pictures were declared by experts to be perfect because of weather conditions that prevailed at Shelby the afternoon of the fight.

Not more than 12,000 persons, instead of a reported 20,000, witnessed the Fourth of July contest, according to C. A. Rasmussen collector of internal revenue in Montana, who said that about 2,000 persons crashed through the gate after breaking down the barbed wire entanglement.

Gunderson, former cashier of the First State bank of Alexander, charged with embezzling a note, are scheduled for trial at an adjourned term of McKenzie county district court set to reopen here July 10. District Judge Thomas Pugh of Dickinson will preside, a postponement of the cases having been taken because of the filing of affidavits of prejudice against Judge George Mollring, who presided at the opening of the regular session several days ago.

The case of Harm Arends, charged with assault with a deadly weapon, also probably will be tried before Judge Pugh.

NEW STYLE IN ALARM CLOCKS

J. P. Davis and family of Toledo, O., were awakened at 5 o'clock the other morning when six freight cars tried to crawl into their ground-floor bedrooms. The large tree, tangled around one of the cars, fell across the davenport where Davis and his wife slept. They escaped with slight injuries. The brakeman of the interurban train was killed. The motorman jumped from his cab when he saw the crash was inevitable.

MINOT WINS 11-INNING THRILLER

LOCALS TIE SCORE IN 9TH INNING RALLY

Contest Marked by Sensational Play All Through 11 Innings

THROCKMORTON IN BOX

The Minot club lost an 11-inning thriller to the Bismarck club at the local ball park last night by a score of 3 to 2. It was a heart-breaking game for the small crowd of fans that braved the threatening clouds to go to the game, but they were rewarded by a ninth-inning rally which tied the score and an effort in the eleventh which filled the bases but failed to bring victory when a runner was forced out at home.

The game had all the brands of a sensational game. There was remarkable fielding, smart baseball and some lapses, but on the whole it was a great contest.

Throckmorton returned to the Bismarck club and pitched fine ball, allowing only four hits in the first nine innings and two in the last two. He outpitched Denison, but his own wildness and poor throwing to bases contributed to his defeat.

The Minot club indulged in the smartest base running seen on the local lot this year. It produced Minot's first run without an error. Coleman, in the third, got a base on balls. On Walters' sacrifice he went all the way to third base. He scored on the squeeze play. Minot scored again in the seventh. After two were down, Oliver was walked and Throckmorton's quick throw to catch him tripping went by Chief Fly. Oliver stole third. He scored on Hester's single, which would not have scored him from second.

In the ninth Walters, first man up, got a hit. He took second when Fly dropped Throckmorton's throw but was put out at third on McNight's hit. Oliver flew out. Bernier making a line running catch. Hester was walked and King Warner scored. McNight with a single to center.

Walters was passed. McNight sacrificed him and Walters went from first to third on it, he scored on Oliver's hit.

Bismarck got double the hits Minot got but had a hard time getting runs across. The locals scored two runs in the seventh, tying the score. Zart was safe on Hester's error. Nord poled a two-bagger in left-center. Condon hit safely and Zart scored. Nord leant's throw out at home. Throckmorton bounced a single off Denison's glove. New Randall sent a sacrifice fly to right and Condon scored.

The locals also tied the score in the ninth, after Minot had made her total three runs. Zart went out but Nord got his second two-bagger and took third on a passed ball. Condon walked. Throckmorton fanned but when Denison and Hester mused up Randall's grounder, Nord scored.

In the eleventh Condon, first man up, went out, Denison, unassisted. Throckmorton was safe on Gunther's error. Randall's grounder hit Throckmorton, retiring the base-runner but putting New on first. Dougan fled out to right.

Minot's base running was the smartest seen this season. Kibby Spranger, back on short after recovering from injuries, should have remained away one more day. For his sensational fielding itself may have cost Bismarck the game. He handled ten chances without error and started two double plays himself.

Throckmorton looked might good for Bismarck. He pitched the third game of the season against Minot and lost 2 to 1. Since then he has been playing on teams near here, setting his arm in shape. He only struck out one, but Minot couldn't hit 'em safe.

Dougan continued his tough batting luck. He smacked the ball on the nose but where they were waiting for it.

The first three Bismarck batters flew out to right. George Denison pitched a no-hit game his last appearance here, but Bismarck hit him hard yesterday.

The crowd was on. Umpire Labe Saftro pretty hard. Recently at Minot the Hester crowd accused Labe of working against them. An umpire has a tough job at the best. President Powell said that Roy Funk, who took Tony Pleva's place, resigned because he wouldn't stand for ragging by the players. Powell has issued an order to umpires to fine players who kick too much. "The crowd," well, he says the crowd pays and the umpires will have to stand it. The fans feel they had just kicks coming here yesterday.

It was tough to see Chief Fly playing with a bad leg. He just hobbled around. But with Reider still off duty there was no substitute for him. The Chief wouldn't have missed some balls on first if he'd been right.

The box score:

SCORES SHUTOUT IN BIG COMEBACK

Dick Rudolph, Long Retired, Turns In Sensational Pitching Feat

BY BILLY EVANS
The age of baseball miracles has not reached its end. Not when Dick Rudolph, nine years after his 1914 world's series fame, returns to the hill and pitches a shut-out victory.

Youth must be served, but age lingers long when there is a bundle of gray matter on the shoulders. For Dick Rudolph, retiring as an active performer several years ago, took a fling at his familiar spot on May 17, faced the hardest hitting team in the National League and won, 1 to 0, in 10 innings.

Rudolph's feat of blanking the Pittsburgh Pirates in his first game in several years, is one of the features of the present season.

Base Veteran Stars
A decade back Dick was pitching shut-outs without causing any commotion but when he turns the trick at the age of 33, then it is time to put out a call for Cy Young, Nick Altrock, Bill Dineen and others of days long ago.

Exactly 18 years after he pitched his first professional game Rudolph delivered his remarkable shut-out. He was with Fordham College in 1905 and with New Haven in the Connecticut State League the next year.

In 1911 he was given a trial with the Giants after four big seasons with Toronto but that spring McVraw had his share of pitching strength and Richard was sent back to Toronto. In 1913, the Braves obtained Rudolph in a deal with the Giants.

Shut-outs without causing any commotion but when he turns the trick at the age of 33, then it is time to put out a call for Cy Young, Nick Altrock, Bill Dineen and others of days long ago.

Exactly 18 years after he pitched his first professional game Rudolph delivered his remarkable shut-out. He was with Fordham College in 1905 and with New Haven in the Connecticut State League the next year.

HARRY WILLS GETS CHANCE AT DEMPSEY

Colored Man Will be Next Opponent of Champion, Jack Kearns Says

PICTURES SAID GOOD

Promoters May Recoup on Losses Sustained in the Fight at Shelby

Great Falls, Mont., July 6 (By the Associated Press)—Harry Wills, the negro heavyweight, probably will be Jack Dempsey's next opponent, Jack Kearns, manager of the heavyweight champion said today. Kearns said he expected to finish his business immediately for New York to close negotiations for a match with Wills to be decided probably on Labor Day.

"We want to box Wills if for nothing more than to convince the public that Dempsey does not draw the color line and has no fear of him," Kearns said. "The match was fixed a few months ago, but for some reason it was side-tracked. It is my opinion that it will draw better than a return match with Willard."

Dempsey knocked him over seven times in one round and could do it again, so I don't see much object in fighting him."

Kearns revealed today that he still remains a 33-1-3 percent in the motion picture rights of the battle. Gibbons has a 25 percent interest while L. J. Molony and Mayor Jim Johnson have a 41-2-3 percent interest in the pictures.

Plans are being made to exhibit them through the country immediately. The pictures were declared by experts to be perfect because of weather conditions that prevailed at Shelby the afternoon of the fight.

Not more than 12,000 persons, instead of a reported 20,000, witnessed the Fourth of July contest, according to a statement made by a collector of internal revenue in Montana who said that about 2,000 persons crashed through the gate after breaking down the barbed wire entanglement.

EMBEZZLEMENT CASES IN MCKENZIE COURT JULY 10

Gunderson, former cashier of the First State bank of Alexander, charged with embezzling a note, are scheduled for trial at an adjourned term of McKenzie county district court set to reopen here July 10. District Judge Thomas Pugh of Dickinson will preside, a postponement of the cases having been taken because of the filing of affidavits of prejudice against Judge George Meelinger, who presided at the opening of the regular session several days ago.

The case of Harm Arends, charged with assault with a deadly weapon, also probably will be tried before Judge Pugh.

The large tree, tangled around one of the cars, across the davenport where Davis and his wife slept. They escaped with slight injuries. The brakeman of the interurban train was killed. The motorman jumped from his cab when he saw the crash was inevitable.

J. C. ANDERSON LEAVES CITY

Will Make His Future Home in California

J. C. Anderson and family will leave Bismarck about August 1 for Los Angeles where they will make their future home. Mr. Anderson has sold his home at 618 Fifth street to Scott Cameron, local attorney.

Mr. Anderson has been identified with Bismarck for the last twenty-five years and has been a great booster for this section of the state, but sees in California opportunities that appeal to him.

For eighteen years he was connected with the First National bank in this city and Wilton. For the past seven years he was an officer in the Lahr Motor Sales company.

"Charlie" as he is generally known has served as an officer of the Bismarck Commercial club, Rotary club and other civic organizations. In all drives for war projects and city affairs he has taken a prominent part and Bismarck loses one of its best public workers.

He plans to motor to Los Angeles with his family and spend several weeks more investigating conditions before accepting several propositions that have been submitted to him.

GIRL IS SHOT BY U. S. AGENTS

Car Mistaken for Rum Runners—Town Is Aroused

Malone, N. Y., July 6.—Residents along the Canadian border are aroused over the wounding of Belle Baker last Tuesday night and the subsequent arrest of three federal officers charged with assault. It is alleged that the officers, who were watching for rum runners, fired at the automobile containing Miss Baker and her father when the latter refused to stop.

Mr. Baker said he thought the officers were robbers and that when they ordered him to stop stepped on the accelerator and was fired upon by them, one bullet striking the daughter in the side but not wounding her seriously.

Directors of the Malone Chamber of Commerce have adopted a resolution requesting Senator Wadsworth to use his influence in investigating "the indiscriminate use of firearms in stopping suspected cars along the border."

The resolution also suggested that all government agents be uniformed to avoid being mistaken for robbers.

27 TEAMS ARE ENTERED FOR STOCK JUDGING

Grand Forks, July 6.—Twenty-seven demonstration teams representing 14 counties of the state are already entered for the boys' and girls' club competition at the North Dakota State Fair to be held here July 16 to 21, according to information received by Secretary Montgomery from H. E. Rilling of the North Dakota Agricultural college, state boys' and girls' club leader.

Nine teams will give demonstrations in home economics, seven in agriculture, and eleven in stock judging. In addition, livestock entries will be made by the club members from eleven counties of the state for competition in the special junior class.

Counties which will send demonstration teams for all three classes include Grand Forks, Bottineau, Walsh and Barnes. Stock judging and home economics demonstration teams will be sent by Cass, Dickey and Stutsman. Benson and Steele counties will send agriculture, seven in agriculture, and eleven in stock judging. In addition, livestock entries will be made by the club members from eleven counties of the state for competition in the special junior class.

The winning demonstration teams in the State fair will be declared the state champions and will represent North Dakota in the inter-state competition at the fair at Sioux City Iowa, this fall.

Counties from which entries will be made of livestock raised by the boys' and girls' club members include Stutsman, Cass, Walsh, Richland, Ramsey, Traill, Ransom, Dickey, Grand Forks, Towner and Ward.

RAISE MONEY FOR HANDLING GRAIN CROP

Minneapolis, July 6.—Arrangements have been completed with the federal farm land board at Washington to supply funds to the farmers' elevators of Minnesota, the Dakotas and Montana, to be used in buying grain and moving the product to terminals. T. H. Hagen, secretary and manager of the U. S. Grain Growers Sales company here announced today.

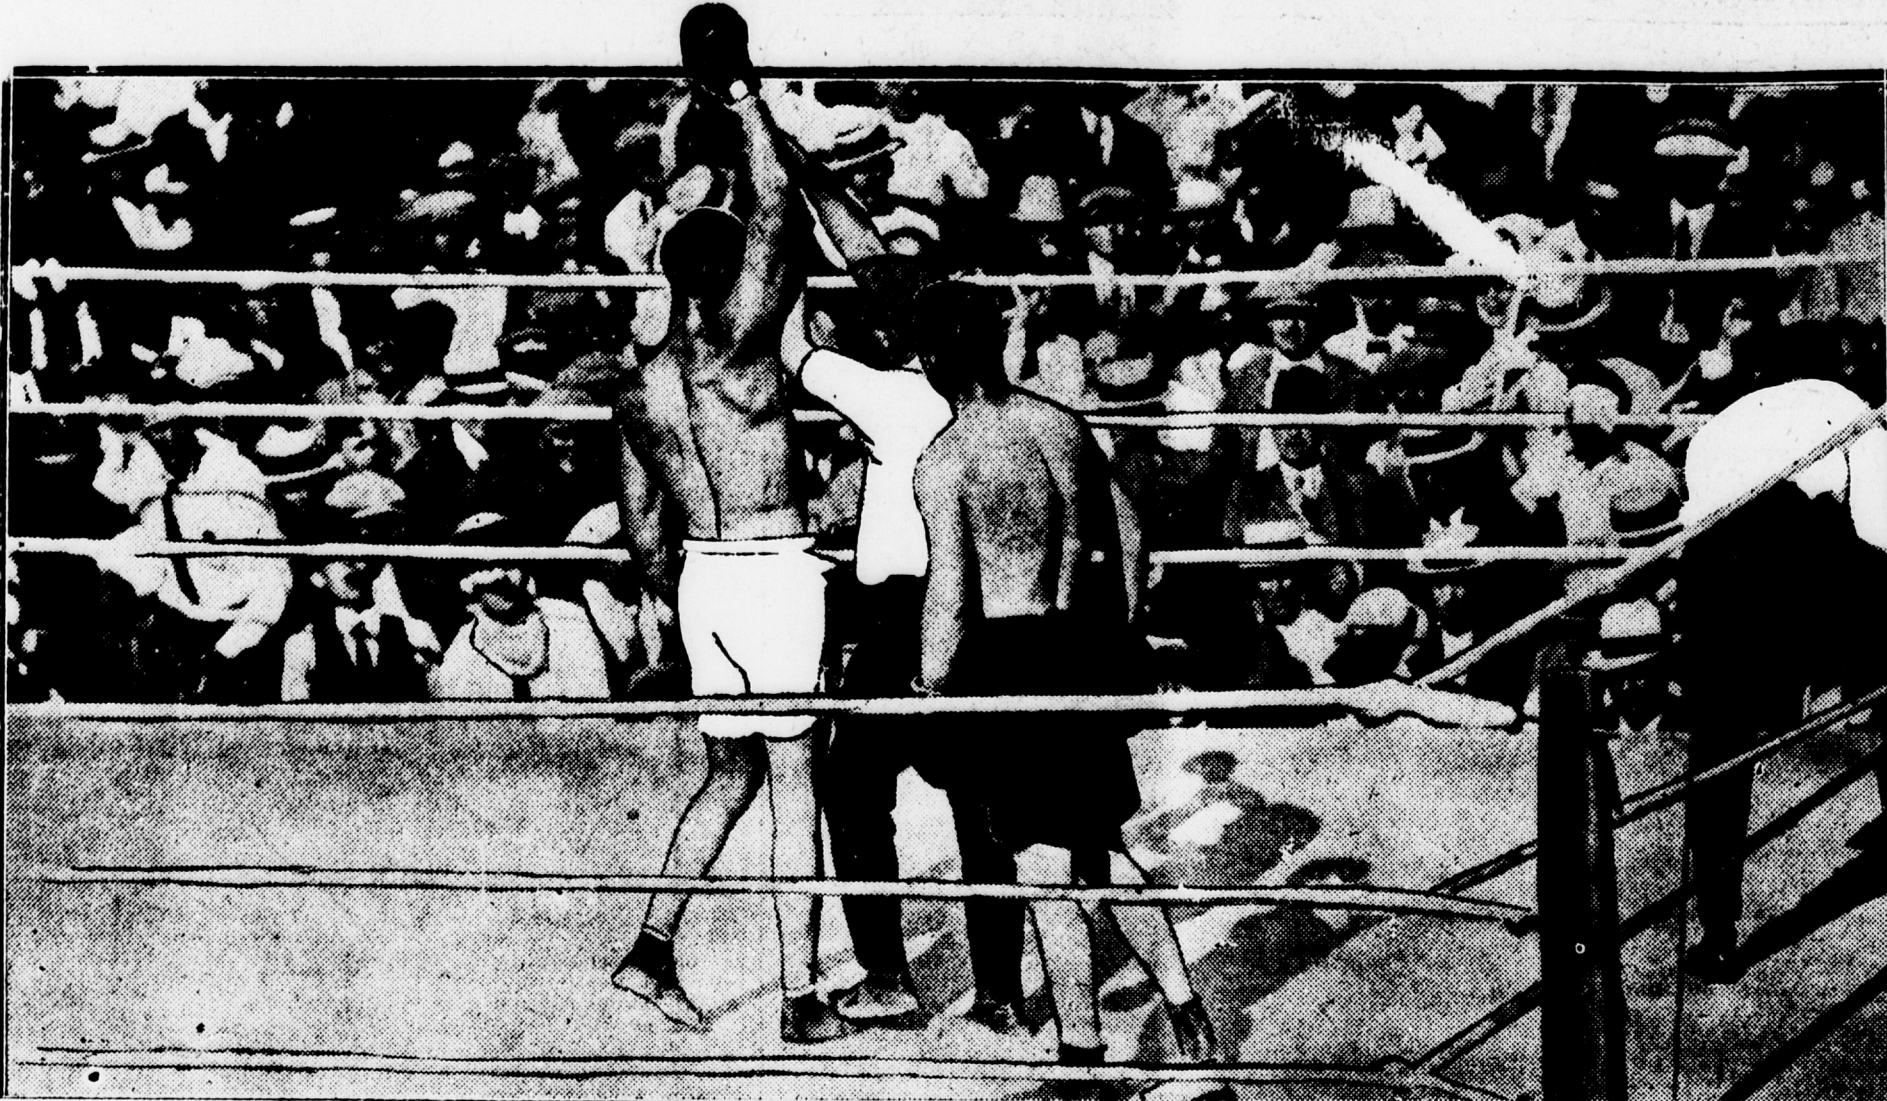

Loans will be made to each elevator up to a maximum of $15,000 in multiples of $5,000 secured by storage tickets, or warehouse receipts Mr. Hagen said.

In the past, according to Mr. Hagen, the farmers' elevators have been financed by the grain commission firms, but under the new plan it will be possible for the farmers to market their grain through their own organization, the U. S. Grain Growers Sales company.

LITTLE GIRL HAS RECOVERED

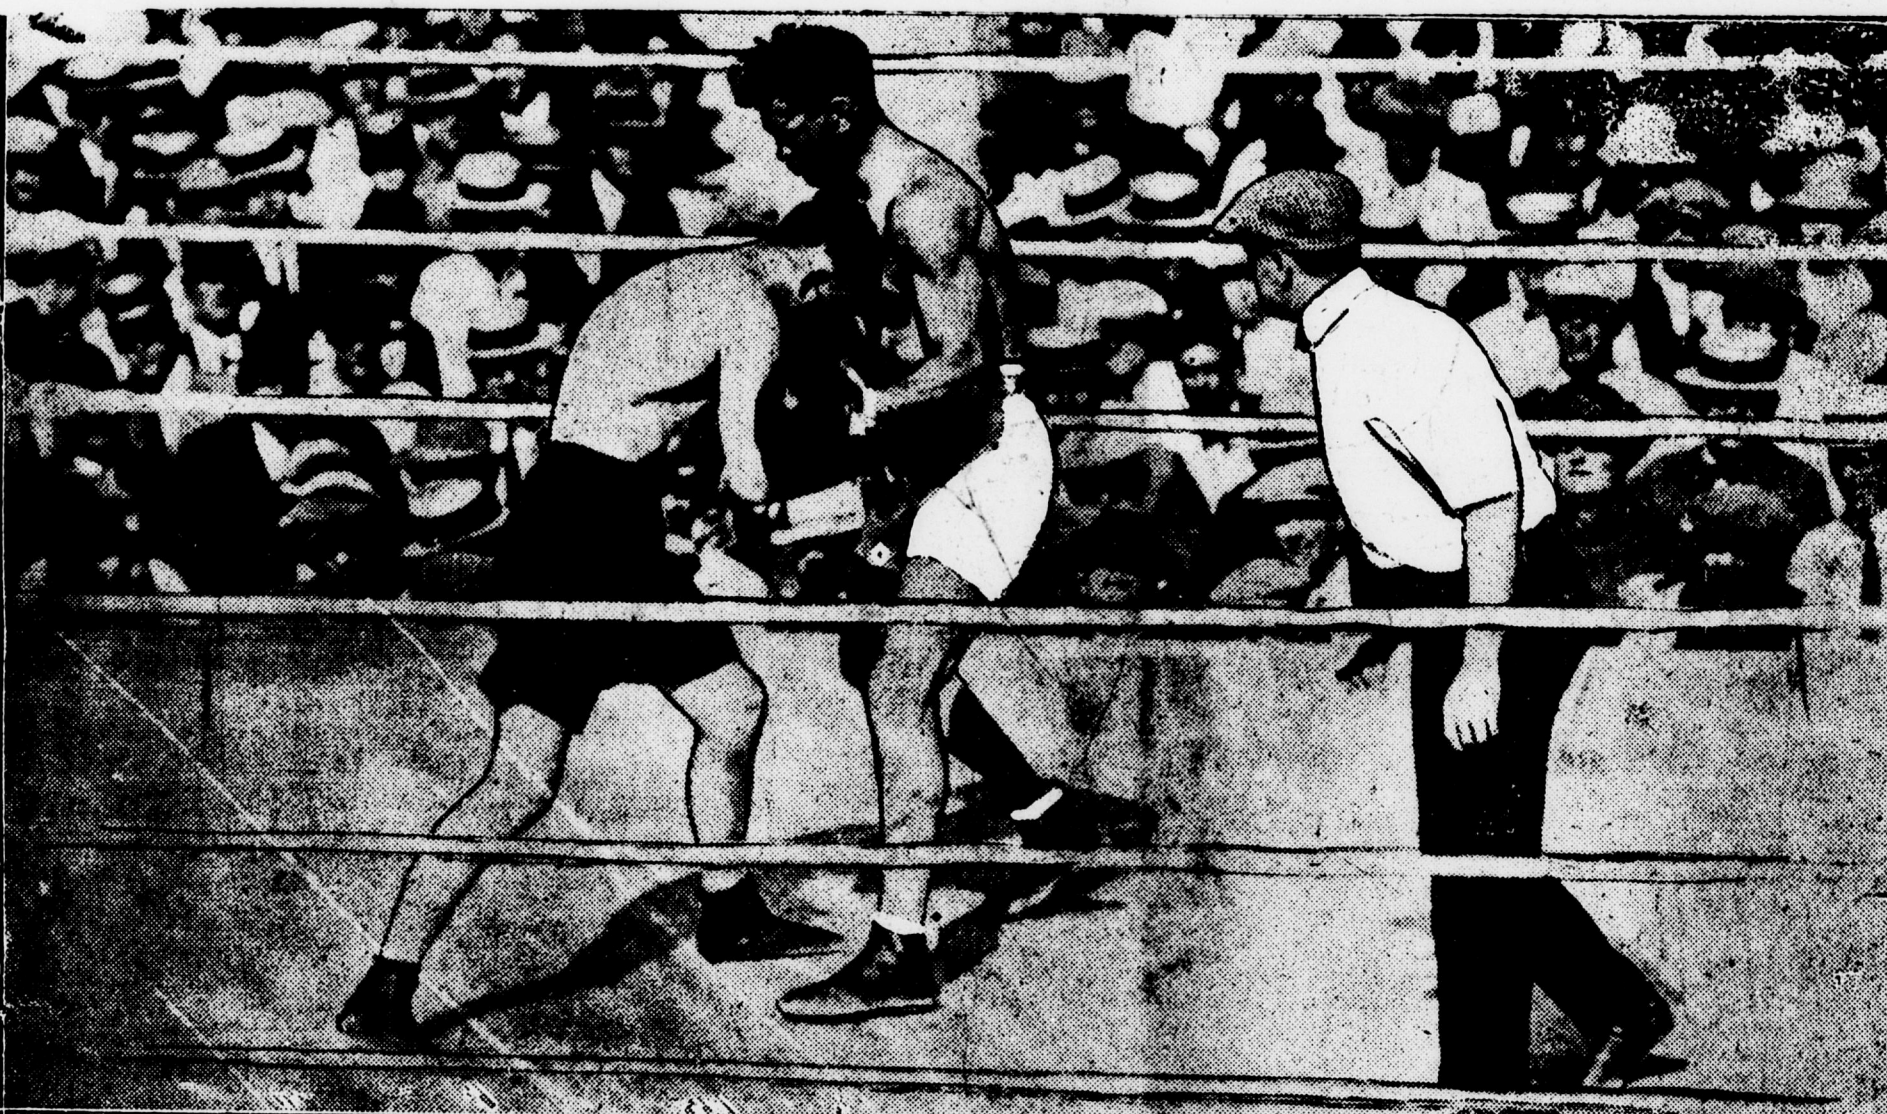

Lucille Ferguson, aged 4, of Beulah, who was injured in an automobile accident on the Mandan road late Tuesday, was discharged from a local hospital, and returned home with her parents.

DEMPEY IS ACCLAIMED VICTOR

Jack Dempsey, world's heavyweight champion, successfully defended his title in a 15 round bout with Tommy Gibbons of St. Paul at Shelby, July 4, but Gibbons surprised the fight world by staying 15 rounds with the champion. Referee Daugherty of Philadelphia is shown acclaiming Dempsey a winner on points after 15 rounds of furious fighting failed to produce a knockout.

TOMMY GIBBONS HAD HIS INNING

Tommy Gibbons, even though he lost a referee's decision to Champion Jack Dempsey in a 15 round bout at Shelby July 4, didn't take all the punches that were thrown that afternoon. Here he is shown starting an attack in the second round. He drove Dempsey to the ropes with a volley of blows. One opened a cut over the champion's eye.

GLARING HEADLIGHTS FORCE AUTOMOBILES OFF THE ROAD

Failure of motorists to observe laws regarding glaring headlights, as well as the rule of courtesy of the road, has resulted in several accidents in the last few days.

The automobile of Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Steiner of Hazelton was forced off the road east of the city Tuesday night by glaring headlights. The autoist who caused the accident never stopped but others picked them up. Both were discharged from a local hospital yesterday.

Three other cars, it is reported, were forced off the grade near Men-laws by glaring headlights and the same has happened on the road between Bismarck and Mandan.

Several local motorists have urged The Tribune to voice a plea that the rule that dimmers be put on when cars are meeting on the road. There is a law covering this, they say, but it ought not to be necessary to enforce the law, since it is a well known rule of the road and is a safety factor to all motorists.

DECISION OF SUPREME COURT

From Hettinger County.
Frank Rokusek, Plaintiff and Respondent, vs. National Union Fire Insurance Company of Pittsburgh, Pa., a corporation, Defendant and Appellant.

SYLLABUS:
1. In an action to recover on a policy of crop insurance for loss sustained, held that under Sections 5825 to 5828, inclusive, C. L. 1913, certain instruments set out and referred to in the opinion constitute a good accord and satisfaction of all obligations on account of such policy.

2. In the absence of mutual mistake, and unless induced so to do by fraud or deceit, one who deliberately signs a written contract without reading the same is concluded thereby as against the other party to such contract.

3. A preponderance of the evidence, taking into consideration all presumptions arising under the circumstances as shown, is sufficient to establish fraud so as to avoid a written instrument. Evidence examined and held not to meet the requirement in this particular case.

4. The pleadings and record in the instant case examined and held that the action is not an action for damages on account of fraud.

5. In order to rescind a contract procured by fraud the party rescinding must restore or offer to restore to the other party the consideration moving from him on condition that such party shall do likewise, unless the latter is unable or positively refuses to do so.

6. Where an oral accord is partly but not fully executed, the creditor may repudiate the same and sue upon the original obligation for any balance remaining, after crediting thereon such amounts as may have been paid upon the accord.

7. Under Chapter 133, Laws 1921, a proper motion for a directed verdict challenges the sufficiency of the evidence and raises a question of law which may be reviewed upon appeal from the judgment without a motion for a new trial or for judgment notwithstanding the verdict.

Appeal from the District Court of Hettinger County, Honorable Frank T. Lembke, J.

Defendant, National Union Fire Insurance Company, appeals from the judgment.

Reversed.
Opinion of the Court by Neuse, J. Brown, Ch. J., disqualified; Cooley, Dist. Judge, sitting.

FROM WALSH COUNTY

James Hrabek, Plaintiff-Respondent, vs. Joseph Patocka, Defendant-Appellant.

SYLLABUS:

In an action for assault and battery where defendant inflicted upon plaintiff a serious injury with a club, it is held, for reasons stated in the opinion:

1. Where written instructions were submitted to counsel before the close of the case, an objection, which was made to four distinct and separate paragraphs thereof upon four different subjects and which wholly failed to specifically direct the attention of the trial court to an error, now asserted upon appeal, in one of such paragraphs of the instructions, although otherwise specifically it directed the court's attention to another paragraph thereof, is too general for the assignment of error thereupon.

2. That the rejection of testimony and offers of proof concerning anterior provocative acts of plaintiff, made to disprove or minimize malice was, under the circumstances, not prejudicial.

In District Court, Walsh County, Burr, J. Civil action for assault and battery. Plaintiff received verdict for $8,307.00. Defendant has appealed from the judgment. AFFIRMED.

Opinion of the Court by Bronson, Ch. J.
